TAFT OPPOSES A COMPROMISE

Report Comes Direct from the White House.

A RUMOR HAS TAFT READY TO WITHDRAW

And the Compromise Talk Is Again Revived.

The Report Is Not True. There Is Nothing in It, Declares New York Political Leader. While Cummins and La Follette Men Groom Them as Compromise Candidates—The Different Versions.

Washington, June 20.—Emphatic and official denial was made at the White House today that the president intended to withdraw his name from consideration by the Chicago convention and throw his support to the compromise candidate. Senators and representatives telephoned and called personally to assure the president of their support and convince him the time had passed for a compromise.

Senator McCumber urged the president to fight to the end and to insist that his managers carry out the program as outlined.

Former Representative Ward, of Ohio called to express like sentiments.

Secretary of State Knox and Attorney General Wickersham were with the president for an hour conferring on departmental matters and the political situation at Chicago.

"His nerve is superb," said the attorney general. "He has not allowed the convention, or the bolting of Roosevelt or anything else to disturb his equilibrium."

Secretary Knox declared he had never known the president ever considered withdrawing. He declared the president would stand firm.

To Continue Program.

Chicago, June 20.—The Taft leaders held a long conference at the Congress hotel today, and decided to go on with the program and let Roosevelt bolt if he wishes."

To avert an immediate crisis, however, they took under consideration a plan to adjourn until 4 p. m. immediately after convening in order to give the credentials committee an opportunity to finish its work. This plan was favored by most of the leaders.

A sensational report emanated from the Massachusetts delegation today that President Taft had informed Senator Crane that the president would withdraw his name as a candidate for renomination immediately after the Roosevelt delegates bolted, or after it was seen that the rough riders had been decisively beaten.

Soon after this report became current it was learned that Senator Crane had called a caucus of the Massachusetts delegation to meet at 10:30 o'clock.

When the report concerning the communication between Senator Crane and the president was laid before William Barnes, Jr., of New York, he said:

Report Is Denied.

"The report is not true. There is nothing to it."

But while he made this statement to the National News association, it was positively known that he, with Senators Penrose and Crane, had been in conference with both the representatives of Cummins and La Follette and that the New York man had told these men:

"We are standing pat with Taft. The question of the defeat of Roosevelt is out of the way. If it ever becomes necessary for us to face the situation of picking another candidate we will cross that bridge when we get to it. We are skating on very thin ice."

The first man to get the waking ear of the New York leader today as he got out of bed was a field representative of La Follette. This scout came to get some tidings as to the attitude of the Barnes forces toward La Follette in event there came a session after the Roosevelt bolt.

To Prevent a Split.

Chicago, June 20.—Eleventh hour efforts to prevent a split in the Republican party were alleged to have been made today as soon as the leaders could get together. The scheme, it is asserted, so the story goes, was that they had Theodore Roosevelt beaten to a frazzle," but they wished their willingness to save the party by uniting upon a compromise candidate. The alleged chief of the "peace delegation" was Murray Crane, senator from Massachusetts, and the man he picked for the compromise candidate was Albert M. Cummins, senator from Iowa.

A three-hour conference was held by Crane and Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, the Cummins commander-in-chief. This ended early in the day, and at that time, Senator Crane stated that the two had discussed replacing Taft with Cummins before the convention, and that there was a good reason to believe the factional controversy would be settled.

A great part of the discussion was given up to the platform that Cummins would insist upon. Senator Kenyon made it plain that Cummins would demand a progressive platform containing no planks favoring reactionary methods or measures.

Senator Kenyon pleased the Taft leader when he said that Cummins was not in favor of the recall of judges, either in the manner advocated by Roosevelt or in any other form. He was, however, said Kenyon, an advocate of the initiative and referendum.

After Kenyon and Crane separated, a caucus of the Iowa delegation was called to reach a definite decision as to the platform to be put forward. John McVicars, one of Cummins' chief advisers, said later:

They Can't Refuse.

"If Senator Cummins should prove acceptable to the Taft followers as a compromise candidate, the Roosevelt wing of the party can not possibly refuse to support him because his progressiveness has to be admitted by all."

While the Cummins boom was growing, however, there was a strong undercurrent of feeling that Governor Hadley, of Missouri, was "the man of the hour." Many point-

A REVOLT IN THE COLONEL'S CAMP

Roosevelt Again Tells Followers What To Do.

WASTE NO MORE TIME, HE DECLARES

Threat Doesn't Affect Feelings of Taft Men.

The President's Camp Gets News Through "Underground" Sources That There Is a Mutiny in Roosevelt Camp and That Some of Colonel's Leaders Object to a Second Convention.

Chicago, June 20.—Colonel Roosevelt plunged into his plan of campaign as soon as he arose today. He had only a few hours' sleep, but was the first man in his camp to get out of bed. Before 8 o'clock his personal bodyguard, Frank Tyree, a United States marsnal from West Virginia, was summoned to the colonel's quarters.

Z. T. Sprinkle, sheriff of McDowell county, West Virginia, who guards the front door of the "Presidential" suite, in which Colonel Roosevelt holds most of his war conferences, took his station at 7:45 o'clock.

Colonel Roosevelt ordered a heavy breakfast. He ate heartily—excitedly.

The colonel's ultimatum to his delegates in the Republican national convention, issued before he went to bed this morning, that they must bolt the convention if the seventy-eight "tainted" delegates are retained, still stood today, according to word given out by a close friend of the Oyster Bay man.

"I never act until I mean real action," is a personal motto of Roosevelt, in which he takes great pride.

Trouble Is Evidenced.

The colonel was unusually careful in the selection of the men he summoned to his first war council today. He knew there was revolt threatened in his camp. He parted in anger with Governor Hadley, of Missouri, early this morning.

Senator Joseph M. Dixon, of Montana, is said to have incurred the colonel's displeasure by objecting seriously to becoming "irregular." The defection from absolute loyalty by Dixon is said to have been a severe blow to Colonel Roosevelt.

There were reports of an absolute change of Colonel Roosevelt's field generals before noon, at which time Roosevelt's final plans of battle were to be announced at a caucus of his leaders and delegates.

William Flynn, of Pittsburgh; Governor Johnson, of California, and George W Perkins are considered absolutely dependable, and were called in conference early.

TAKES A RECESS UNTIL 4 O'CLOCK

The Big Convention Opens and Then Adjourns.

ALL SORTS OF RUMORS ARE GOING THE ROUNDS

The Crux of the Battle Is Fast Approaching.

Delegates and Spectators Are Evidently Prepared for Something Unexpected and Unusual Events When Session Is Reconvened at 4 O'Clock—Hundreds Bring Their Lunches.

Chicago, June 20.—The strangest session of the strangest convention of the Republican national convention was held today. It lasted for four minutes. Chairman Root called for order. Dean Walter T. Sumner prayed for two minutes.

Delegate Watson moved a recess until 4 o'clock. It was carried.

The convention has been in session three days. Through two days bitter fight over the temporary roll has raged. Now the third day's session has ended, leaving the convention with less business completed than is usually done at the end of the first two hours, and a feeling so marked than when the session ended, the delegates remained on the floor and talked and talked.

No one knew definitely what was going to happen—not even the leaders themselves.

The leaders withdrew soon after the session ended for a series of conferences.

Thousands at Doors.

Coliseum, Chicago, June 20.—Attracted by the prospects of the fireworks predicted in the morning papers, thousands today stormed the Coliseum in an effort to gain admittance for the third day's session of the Republican national convention. The jams about the doors were terrific, many persons standing in line for more than two hours.

As the rumor gradually spread through the crowd that the convention would adjourn soon after it convened until 4 o'clock, there were disappointed murmurs. Many of those, who had been standing in the glare of the blazing sun for more than an hour, turned and went away.

To add to the confusion, the Georgia, Kentucky, Michigan, Missforced to enter through a single doorway over which the sweating doormen presided, while officers were stationed to keep them from crowding in too fast.

The sergeants-at-arms did not get in in time to handle the crowd.

Chairman Root called the convention to order at 12:02:

Rev. Dean Walter T. Sumner asked invocation. His prayer was very short. The prayer in part follows:

"Almighty God, bless this convention; grant to its members self restraint, cool judgment and wisdom that their deliberations may bring to the nation civic righteousness and liberty."

Immediately after the invocation, Delegate Watson, of Indiana, was recognized and moved a recess until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Motion To Adjourn Carries.

The motion was carried on a viva voce vote, and within four minutes after the delegates and spectators had completed their fight to get into the hall, they were filing out again. Watson's motion was:

"Since the credentials committee is not yet ready to report and we can not proceed with our business until the report is received, I move the convention take a recess until 4 o'clock."

The motion was put and carried without dissent. It was part of a program agreed to before the session was called to order.

Just as the convention was called to order, rumors of various sorts regarding withdrawals of the principal candidates and efforts to reunite on a compromise candidate were rife.

Denials from Roosevelt leaders that he had released his delegates; a signed statement from the president that his hat was still in the ring: announcement of a war council of Roosevelt delegate leaders added to the general uncertainty.

Instead of rushing from the convention hall, the delegates stood in little groups talking interestedly of the situation. On the platform, the party leaders gathered and discussed the same questions that the crux of the fight had approached was evident. Delegates and spectators alike were evidently prepared for some unexpected and unusual events when the session reconvened at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

In the galleries many of the visitors, having brought their lunches with them, camped patiently, evidently determined to wait until the session started again.

Hardly any of the women in the special boxes left their places. The band in its high gallery at the north end of the hall furnished a special program, while the hum of conversation floated up to them from the floor below. The visitors were evidently as much interested in the show with the delegates conferring among themselves as they have been when the convention itself was under way.

Fifteen minutes after the convention adjourned, less than a tenth of the delegates had left the floor.

To Continue Organization.

Chicago, June 20.—That the temporary organization of the Republican national convention shall become its permanent organization was the decision of the committee on organization today. They will recommend that Temporary Chairman Root become permanent chairman. The vote was twenty-one to seven. The seven opposing members then withdrew from the committee session. Chairman N. E. Clayton called the committee members to order in room No. 1616 in the Congress hotel. Twenty-eight of the fifty-two members were present and formed a quorum.

Seven members of those present, represented the anti-Taft element. They were not in it, of course, when it came to a vote.

Ira J. Copeley, Illinois member of the committee, was on his feet a moment after Governor Pennewell, of Delaware, moved that the temporary organization be made permanent. The Illinois member moved that no action be taken by the committee until the committee on credentials had completed its work on the contests.

There was discussion that lasted twenty minutes during which Chairman Root was lauded by the members supporting Governor Pennewell's motion.

The vote was twenty-one to seven and the negative members left the committe room.

ROOSEVELT ANNOUNCES BOLT TODAY

Chicago, June 20.—Theodore Roosevelt gave out a complete statement of his position this afternoon. It was a scathing attack on his foes including President Taft, and a call to form a third national party. In the closing paragraph of his statement he says that if the honestly-elected delegates in a bolting convention nominate him he will accept. If some fear to bolt and the remainder choose to start a new movement on progressive lines he will accept a nomination and appeal to all citizens irrespective of party, and fight to the end, win or lose. His words are:

"I shall make my appeal to honest men, East and West, North and South, and gladly abide by the result, whatever that result may be."

THE GRAND ARMY MEN MEET AT SPRINGFIELD

The Annual State Encampment Now Under Way.

Springfield, O., June 20.—The arrival of the Old Guard of Columbus was one of the fetures of the opening day of the anual state encampment of the G. A. R. They created a stir as they marched through the streets and were applauded everywhere.

Dr. C. W. Blodget of Cincinnati will be elected commander without opposition.

A resolution rebuking Governor Harmon for appointing a civilian, Joseph P. Elton, to the head of the Xenia O. S. & S. C. Home was introduced and will be acted upon later. A resolution for the incorporation of the national G. A. R. met with considerable opposition and was referred to the several post of the state.

Women Attack Lloyd George.

London, June 20.—As Chancellor Lloyd-George of the exchequer was about to open the Welsh bazaar at Caxton hall he was savagely assaulted by a mob of militant suffragettes. His hat was knocked off during the riot, in the course of which he was hustled from the hall. Several women were arrested.

MR. ROOSEVELT DENIES STORY

That He Will Release His Delegates.

CHARACTERIZES TALE AS OF WILDEST SORT

Says He Is in the Fight for a Principle.

At the Moment I Can Only Serve the Principle by Continuing To Bear the Responsibility Which Advocacy of the Honestly-Elected Delegates Bring Me, Declares the Colonel in an Interview.

Chicago, June 20.—Persistent rumors that Colonel Roosevelt had released the delegates instructed for him were current throughout the forenoon. They were given impetus by a delegate who, on emerging from the Roosevelt headquarters, declared that the "colonel had gotten out of Hadley's way."

But William Flynn, the Pennsylvania boss, emphatically denied the reports. At 11:10 o'clock he said.

"I have just left Colonel Roosevelt. Any report that he has released the delegates instructed for him is the wildest sort of a yarn."

The Roosevelt delegates will be represented at a conference at 2 o'clock, this afternoon, by one man chosen from each delegation. These men will go into conference with Roosevelt to map out a course of action.

Announcement of this conference is accompanied by formal denials from Governor Deneen and Senator Clapp, of Minnesota, that Roosevelt has released his delegates.

Statement by Roosevelt.

Chicago, June 20.—O. K Davis, a member of the Roosevelt campaign committee, at 11:30 o'clock, authorized a flat denial from Colonel Roosevelt himself of the report that Colonel Roosevelt had released any of his delegates.

The following statement, signed and issued by Colonel Roosevelt, was given out to the press at 11:50 a. m.:

"The time has come when I feel that I must make certain statements, not merely to the honestly-elected members of the Republican national convention, but to the rank and file of the Republican party and to the honest people of the entire nation.

"I went into this fight for certain great principles. At the moment I can only serve those principles by continuing to bear the personal responsibility which their advocacy has brought to me.

"Theodore Roosevelt."

The statement was given out to the press by O. K. Davis. It means Roosevelt will stay in the fight.

Hadley Satisfactory.

Chicago, June 20.—Colonel Roosevelt announced privately today that this is not a fight for a man, but for a principle, and that he will not be guided by personal feelings. He is said to have declared that Governor Hadley would be a satisfactory candidate provided he be nominated without the votes of the seventy-eight stolen delegates.

Fight Will Continue.

Chicago, June 20.—Following a two hours' conference with Colonel Roosevelt, Governor Hadley declared the fight would continue along the lines on which it has been started.

"Is it true that Colonel Roosevelt has released the delegates."

"I will have to refer you to Senator Dixon as to that question," Governor Hadley answered.

"Is it true there has been trouble between yourself and Senator Dixon?"

"I will say that there has been nothing of the kind."

Prince Palatine Wins.

Ascot, Eng., June 20.—The Ascot gold cup valued at $2,500, with $17,500 added, was won here today by Prince Palatine. Basse Point was second and Bill-and-Coo third. Seven horses ran.

EIGHT PERSONS HURT IN A FIRE

The Elderhurst Hotel at Rockaway Beach Is Destroyed.

New York, June 20.—Eight persons were injured, one of them fatally, in a fire which early today destroyed the Elderhurst hotel at Rockaway Beach. Patients in the Rockaway Beach hospital were thrown into panic by the blaze.

The blaze was discovered shortly after 3 o'clock by Miss May Burnett, of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, a guest at the hotel. Her cries aroused the other guests and an alarm was turned in.

So quickly did the fire spread that some of the guests had to flee in their night clothes. William Fagen, a fireman, was buried beneath a fallen wall and was taken out with a fractured skull. He probably will die. Mrs. George A. Heaburn, wife of the manager, was badly burned. Others suffered burns and bruises.

The lost is estimated at $30,000.

Two Men Fall; One Killed.

Youngstown, June 20.—Fred C. Wiseman, aged thirty-one, was killed and Owen Hunkeston, aged nineteen, was probably fatally injured Wednesday, when a scaffold upon which the men were cleaning the walls of a building fell to the ground, 100 feet below.

BRYAN STILL A POTENT FACTOR

The Nebraskan Delivers an Ultimatum

AS TO DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMANSHIP RACE

Declares Judge Parker Is Too Conservative.

Bryan Says It Would Be Suicidal for the Democrats To Name a Man Like Parker To Make the Keynote Speech at Convention Next Week, and the Race Is Now More Badly Mixed Than Ever.

Baltimore, June 20.—Because of William Jennings Bryan's ultimatum that Judge Alton B. Parker is "too conservative" for temporary chairman of the Democratic convention, the chairmanship race was badly mixed today when the sub-committee on arrangements of the Democratic national committee met to perfect details for the organization of the convention. Bryan is still a potent factor in the Democratic party as was evidenced today by the consternation among politicians here, when they learned the Nebraskan would make a personal issue of Parker as chairman. Over the long-distance telephone from Chicago, Bryan told a member of the national committee it would be "suicidal" for the Democrats to name a conservative like Parker to make the keynote speech.

The chairmanship contest seemed to have simmered down today to desultory rivalry between Judge Parker, Senator O'Gorman and Theodore A. Bell.

Bryan Is Feared.

It was predicted that Bryan might check the plans of the committee on arrangements to acquiesce in the suggestion that Judge Parker be named. None of the candidates feel like openly opposing the New Yorker because the New York delegation casts ninety votes and the New Yorkers take the position that they ought to have their way about a thing like the chairmanship.

It was emphatically denied at Champ Clark's headquarters here today that a prominent Clark supporter had "flopped" to Harmon in the hope of obtaining second place on the ticket should Harmon be nominated. The Clark boomers said the story is like others put out by the opposition, merely in the hope of injuring Clark. Clark supporters confidently assert the speaker, going into the convention with the largest number of votes of any of the candidates now in the race, will gain rather than lose after the first ballot and some of the more enthusiastic boomers predict a Clark victory on the second or third ballot.

CONFERENCE HELD WITH ROOSEVELT

Leaders Hold Important Confab in the Hotel.

Chicago, June 20.—The Roosevelt conference consisting of two delegates from each state and territory went into session at 2:22 p. m., Colonel Roosevelt presiding. The conference was held in the Florentine room in the Auditorium Annex opposite Colonel Roosevelt's private apartments.

HADLEY'S BOOM AGITATES TEDDY

The Colonel Changes His Mind Once More.

ROOSEVELT NEARLY HAS A STROKE

When He Learns of Missouri Man's Popularity.

The Ex-President Is Kept Busy Correcting Things and When Not Telling Delegates How To Vote, He Reads Epictetus and Brand Whitlock's Stories of Corruption in Politics, and Feels Better.

Chicago, June 20.—Theodore Roosevelt likes Governor Herbert S. Hadley, of Missouri—thinks he's a great man and all that sort of thing. Would make a fine vice president, for instance.

But as a compromise candidate for the presidency—well, not yet.

The colonel nearly had a stroke Wednesday afternoon. While the Hadley boom was in progress at the Coliseum, some one sent in a note to the colonel at his headquarters in the Congress. It read:

"What do you think of it?"

Back came word at once:

"I am greatly pleased."

"Fine," exclaimed the political specialists outside. "The colonel favors Hadley for a compromise candidate."

They sent the good work along. Some one told the colonel. Almost coincident with the telling, a messenger shot out the door looking for the representatives of the press associations—so quick is the colonel when he is a trifle excited.

Thereupon the colonel gave out a statement that he was well pleased with the Hadley "demonstration" not with the Hadley "boom."

Correcting Things.

"I wish to correct the impression," said Roosevelt. In fact, the colonel spent the whole day trying to correct things. There was that little matter of the election of Senator Root as temporary chairman, the day before. There was the buisness of trying to get some sort of credentials which would give him the right to be heard, once he took the floor in the convention. There was the licking that was promised him on the Hadley motion. There was the discordant singing across the hall. There were—oh, any number of things.

It's the colonel's rule that he shall be at work not later than 9:30 in the morning. That's one of the things Taft, Penrose and Crane have against him, but he doesn't care. At 9:30 yesterday morning he was ready for business. First there was a consultation. Next was a conference. All the rest were deliberations.

Those in Conference.

Participating were Governor Deneen, of Illinois, George W. Perkins, financial manager of the Roosevelt campaign; Governor Hiram Johnson, of California; George S. Cortelyou, Clifford Pinchot, former Governor Wilson, of Kentucky; Senator Williams S. Borah, of Idaho; "Old Bill" Flynn, of Pittsburgh; Governor Stubbs, of Kansas; Judge P. E. Wanamaker, of Akron, Ohio, and former Congressman Fred Landis, of Indiana. They came early and stayed as long as possible. Then they hurried to the convention. They were grim and deliberate—much as a man looks when he comes home late to dinner.

From 11 until 1:15—it pays to be exact about these things—the colonel remained in his headquarters receiving reports from the Coliseum and reading. The day before he read Epictetus and was unmercifully trounced in the convention. Wednesday, Epictetus was put back in the catacombs. The colonel took up Brand Whitlock instead. Whitlock and the colonel are great friends, and, besides, Whitlock can write more mean things about fraud and corruption than any other living man. The colonel was just in the frame of mind for it.

SEVEN KILLED AND NINETEEN INJURED

Leipsic, Germany, June 20.—Seven persons were killed and nineteen injured early today in the collision of two express trains on the Leipsig & Bornar railway at Gaschwitz, about eight miles from this city.

SEVEN YOUNG PEOPLE GRADUATE FROM SCHOOL

St. Mary's High School Holds Its Commencement.

FATHER J. T. O'CONNELL DELIVERS AN ADDRESS

Talks to the Class of the Religious Training Secured in the Catholic Schools and the Real Purpose in Life—An Intimate Knowledge of God Is Necessary.

Six young women and one young man were formally graduated from St. Mary's High school at the annual graduation exercises held at St. Mary's Catholic church, Wednesday evening. A representative audience that filled the big church to its seating capacity, enjoyed the excellent program rendered.

Beautiful St. Mary's church was never more beautiful, and it called forth the comment of many in the audience. Palms, greenery and early bloom made the auditorium decidedly attractive, and this added materially to the excellence of the program.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, the members of the orchestra, composed of L. B. McNeal, Dr. Robert Ramroth, Miss Clara Leffler, John W. and Charles Wissler and Miss Nona Kelly, took their places, and the program was opened with a big chorus singing "The Bells of St. Mary's," by Weatherly. Miss Leona Gurley sang "Resignation," Caro Roma, being accompanied by Miss Clara Leffler on the violin, and Miss Nona Kelly on the piano, following the selection by the big chorus. Both numbers were very pleasing.

The Class Address.

The class address was at this point delivered by Rev. J. T. O'Connell, L.L. D., rector of the Cathedral at Toledo, one of the eminent leaders of the Catholic church. The speaker plead for a greater interest in the teaching of children along religious lines, for regardless of the training that they may have, if they have not found God all is idle, and the very most essential thing in their lives is lost.

In his opening remarks, the speaker stated that in such circumstances it is natural that the people should ask themselves, "What are the ambitions of the young people in the graduating class?" The people will have an inclination to examine and learn what is in their minds. The young people may learn much from history, he said, and they may have thus before them visions of great things that they may do, following the examples of the great characters of history.

"All the nations of history have passed away, their commerce is gone, and their great men have passed away, and all that remains to us are their failures and their successes. It is for us to take from their history those things which are essential," the speaker said. "Assyria, Egypt and Babylon, after their greatness, have all passed away, and their great men are unknown, only as they are known in history. What after all, is there in the treasures of a nation, in its accomplishments and its learning if there is missing the one essential thing, the right relation with Almighty God? These young people are of God, and from God. By this very creation they are related in an established way that can not be changed. They are the creation, and God is the creator. The one purpose of their lives should be to serve God, and thus to fulfill the destiny for which they were made. It is necessary to educate according to religion. What matters it if the student knows of science and history and fails to learn that great thing for which they were created?

A Question Asked.

"When we look upon the educational institutions, and find that the name of God is not mentioned in the curriculum, and can not be mentioned without a violation of the rules, we wonder what is the real benefit. Religion should be a vital part of education because it is a vital part of life."

Rev. Father O'Connell showed that to take God away from the children is to take away the rule of right and wrong. He touched on the fact that the criminals of today are those who lacked religious training, but were quite well-trained along other lines.

"We do not find the worst criminals as a class among the poor and ignorant classes, but among the trained classes. Education without the proper religious training goes toward the making of the criminal. Education sharpens the intellect. With no sense of right and wrong, and wholly without religious training, they are in position to become criminals. Any system, the speaker continued, that fails to give this needed religious training is a failure—so far as it is of any essential value to the student. The Catholic church has always emphasized this fact. It has trained the children with the one view that they might reach God.

Wealth for Good Purposes.

"Wealth is good when it is used for good purposes," the speaker stated. "But wealth may become the one thing desired. A man's only desires may be for the acquisition of money. Men have become rich beyond expectation, and beyond imagination. When all the wealth has been placed at their feet where is the satisfaction in their hearts and mind, and where is the satisfaction of not having accomplished those things that are really material, namely the development of the soul that it may meet its maker?"

Father O'Connell touched further on the fact that in some of the educational institutions known as great institutions, today, religion appears to the students as a myth, and thereby is the very foundation of the religion of the students undermined."

"Today, there is a complaint outside the Catholic church regarding the lack of moral training in these schools. In spite of the sacrifices that must be made, and in spite of the injustices which must be suffered, the Catholics may be glad that they have strived to bring up the children to do the will of God.

The Real Success.

"Success, today, is in making money or having our names mentioned in the mouths of the people, but all of this is worthless. The essential thing is the development of the soul, and if the education does not tend toward this end it is a failure. These young people may reach the high places of the world or they may not, but if they have won a knowledge of God and the true principles of life, they will have won all success. Reverses may come. To those who are without God the reverses seem hard, and, they end life sometimes in suicide, but the person who is in touch with God, and who has that training so essential, the reverses will appear as nothing. Such a person knows that the one end of life is the knowledge of God, and he can cast reverses aside as nothing. God is the mainspring of our lives."

Father O'Connell in closing spoke of the advantages afforded the young people of the class toward this proper development. He pointed to the zealous pastor, and earnest sisterhood, whose only desire it is to do them good and to lead them on the way to reach God. All success ends in God, he said.

End of the Program.

The big chorus with orchestra accompaniment sang "Revel of the Leaves," Veazie, with great harmony after which a selection, "Bone Pastor," Caroni, was contributed by Misses Marguerite Kelly, Mary Perrachio and Messrs. Jules M. Martin and James A. Walsh, with orchestra accompaniment. "The Pilgrim Chorus," Wagner, by the big chorus was especially pleasing and was the final appearance of the chorus on the program. Following this number, the medals were awarded and the diplomas presented to the graduates by Father Denning. The graduate in the scientific course were Helen Kirchner, Mary Griffin, Mary McFarland and Aalice Mortell. In the commercial course, the graduates were Rose O'Donnell, Evylyn Burke and John McAndrew. The honors in the scientific course were awarded Mary Griffin, and she was given a gold medal. In the commercial course, the honors went to Evylyn Burke, and she also was given a gold medal. Father Denning presented the medals and Miss Gertrude Dwyer pinned them on the honor students.

Joseph McFarland a student in the scientific course, promoted from the tenth to the eleventh grade, was awarded the honors for the best catechetical composition at the end of the year. Prizes were given the following young people who had perfect attendance during the school year:

Prizes Awarded Students.

Esmonde Ryan, Edward Kelly, James Lawlor, Joseph McFarland, Mary Florence Schuler, Mary Mulrow and Anna Lawrence. The presentation of the diplomas was the final number on the program previous to the benediction. "O Salutaris," was contributed by Mrs. Cornelius Breen and Jules M. Martin, and a double male quartet sang, "Tantum Ergo," St. Legger, in an impressive manner.

The program was closed with "Holy God" by the audience.

Among the distinguished churchmen present at the exercises were Father Francis Keyes, of Galion; Father Thomas Conlon, of Tiffin; Father William Casey, of Columbus, and Father Charles Brashler, of Bucyrus, and Father O'Connell.

Richard Wissler was in charge of the numbers contributed by the big chorus during the evening.

CENTRAL DELIVERY BARN IS DAMAGED

Circumstances Such That Fire Is Hard to Control.

Fire of unknown origin, which started in the east end of the haymow of the Central Delivery company, shortly after 9 o'clock Wednesday night, did considerable damage and caused much excitement. The manager of the barn and several of the men were taking care of a sick horse, when they saw a light in the alley and went to investigate, finding the barn afire.

All of the horses and wagons were taken from the barn while the alarm was being sent in.

Box No. 44 was sounded, which brought out the Central and No. 2 departments. Three lines of hose were laid, but considerable difficulty was experienced in reaching the blaze, owing to the fact that the barn is covered with galvanized iron.

The fire was soon under control, and the damage to the building was confined almost entirely to the roof. The barn contained about ten tons of hay and a like amount of straw which was destroyed.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Miss Leera Levada Logan, of Marion, and Earl R. Palmer, of Laurel, Kansas, and Miss May Robinson and Earl V. Judy, of this city.

ROOSEVELT BOLT NOT APPROVED

Kansas and Illinois Won't Follow Colonel.

OTHER STATES TAKE THE SAME STAND

Governors Stubbs and Deneen To Take Action.

Stubbs Declares Kansas Delegation Will Not Bolt, and Deneen Says That Sucker State Delegates Will Remain in Their Seats No Matter What Course Colonel Roosevelt Takes.

Chicago, June 20.—Governor Walter R. Stubbs, original Roosevelt governor, today asserted there would be no bolt. Stubbs declared emphatically that he would not stand for a bolt and would take no part in one. He asserted other leaders of the colonel's cause shared his views.

A conference in which Roosevelt, Governor Hadley, of Missouri; Governor Deneen, of Illinois, and Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, participated, was held early in the day, it was learned this afternoon.

It is asserted that, at this conference, it was decided definitely that it would not do for the colonel to bolt. Instead, it was reported, a plan was determined on whereby the Roosevelt delegates would take no part in the convention after the permanent roll was adopted, provided the delegates against whom a fight has been made were included.

The Roosevelt delegates, according to the plan, will sit silently in their seats after their last fight against the credentials committee fails. They will claim that Taft, should he be renominated, is not the party candidate because fraudulent votes gave him a majority.

Won't Follow Roosevelt.

Chicago, June 20.—The Illinois delegation will not follow Roosevelt in any bolt today nor on any day. They will remain in the Republican convention at the coliseum. This was admitted today by Governor Deneen.

National Committeeman West corroborated Deneen, saying:

"The Illinois delegation will be in its seats when the convention opens today and it will remain there throughout the session. We are for Roosevelt, but we are also regular."

They Won't Remain.

Chicago, June 20.—Senator Dixon, campaign manager for Colonel Roosevelt, gave out a statement this afternoon that the Roosevelt delegates will not remain in the convention unless the roll is revised at once to exclude the "tainted" delegates seated by the national committee.

Senator Dixon's statement follows:

"Roosevelt was legally nominated in the primary states. He will not stand for theft. The Roosevelt delegates will not participate in the convention until it has been purged of its deliberately-stolen delegates—until they purge the roll of the thieves who sit there. That is our ultimatum and can be quoted as such on my authority."

Doesn't Release Delegates.

Chicago, June 20.—William A. Prendergast, of New York, who was chosen to nominate Roosevelt, concluded a conference with the colonel at 2:05 this afternoon. He was asked if the report that the colonel had released his delegates was true.

"That is the first I ever heard of such an idea," he said.

ROOSEVELT MAY GO TO CONVENTION

Rumors Says He Will Attend the Coliseum in Person.

Chicago, June 20.—Colonel Roosevelt may appear in person before the Republican national convention this afternoon. This was the burden of a proposition under consideration at the Roosevelt conference called for this afternoon. The plan, as urged upon Colonel Roosevelt, provided that, when the convention reconvened, Roosevelt should go before it in person and make an address to the delegates. If the plan is carried out, the colonel will say in his speech that he is not in this fight to win a personal victory or to get a personal nomination, but he enlisted in the battle for the principle. It is said that he will add that if the convention will purge its roll of the seventy-eight contested delegates, whom he charges to have been fraudulently seated, he will withdraw from the race and permit the purged convention to select its own nominee without respect to any instructions in his behalf.

A Japanese tea merchant will grow tea in Formosa. He has engaged two experts from Uji, Japan, where green tea is largely grown, and has erected a factory in Shinko-sho, Koroton, Taichu. New tea manufacturing machines have been imported from Japan, and the factory will begin soon on a small scale. The total production this year will probably be 50,000 pounds.

COLONEL URGES BOLT AT ONCE

Would Hold Rump Meeting in Convention Hall.

HE MAKES APPEAL TO THE DELEGATES

Revolutionary Talk of Roosevelt Loudly Cheered.

You Must Not Allow Your Opponents To Win by Foul Means After Losing by Fair Means, and Thus Swindle the People Out of Victory Which They Won, Shouts Colonel to Hearers.

Chicago, June 20. — Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in a sensational address to his delegates and advisers, urged his followers not to lay down in the convention today, but to organize a convention of their own right there in the convention hall if the 80 delegates whose seats are in dispute be permitted to vote upon any question affecting the title to these seats. Colonel Roosevelt said:

"I believe that you will decline longer to submit to having delegates fraudulently seated in the convention allowed to sit as judges on their own contests. You must not allow your opponents to win by foul means after losing by fair means and thus swindle the people out of the victory which they won.

"If voted down I hope that you, the real and lawful majority of the convention, will organize as such. And you will do it if you have courage. Now let's see if the Republican party is the party of the real people, the people of the United States, or of the bosses and the interests maintained in the interest of special privilege.

Says He Is Through.

"As for myself, I want to tell you right now that I am through.

I have been asked to come here and give you my views on this situation, when I began my fight. For months I said that if the people decided against me I would have nothing to say, but if the people were for me and the politicians decided against me, I would have a lot to say. Now the national committee, or a portion of the committee, who made a majority for the convention by seating delegates who were fraudulently elected, are trying to cheat me out of the nomination. They can't do it; I won't let them. So far you have permitted them to beat you in the convention by using these stolen votes. Don't let them do it today. I hope that today you will at once introduce a resolution that not one fraudulently seated delegate shall vote on any question in the committee on credentials or in the convention or on any question whatever.

Don't lie down again. If they beat us again on fraudulent votes, there is no sense in voting to cast out fraudulent votes, and then when you are beaten by those very fraudulent votes on saying that you are sorry and that you will go home. We do not propose that we shall be swindled out of a victory honestly won nor that the people shall be swindled out of the victory that they have honestly won."

While Mr. Roosevelt was making this speech he was surrounded by Governor McGovern of Wisconsin, Medill McCormick and others. The Florentine room was crowded and the colonel's speech advising a bolt was received with tumultuous cheers. There were many women in the gallery, keyed up to great excitement.

Colonel Roosevelt closed his speech by saying that he could not go into the details of the bolt, that they would learn of the details from their leaders in the morning.

Colonel Roosevelt then went into executive session with his lieutenants and spent the rest of the night preparing the plans for the fight in the convention. Each step in the fight will be allotted to the respective Roosevelt leaders on the floor of the convention.

Governor Johnson of California talked to the delegates for a few minutes after the colonel retired. He said that the Roosevelt men had stopped fighting with feathers and were going to fight with clubs. He was quite ready to follow Pennsylvania in a bolt and to join his 24 from California with the other delegates in a bolt.

Denounces Committee.

Chicago, June 20.—By a vote of 62 to 2 the Pennsylvania Roosevelt delegates decided to leave the Republican convention. William Flinn, the chairman of the delegation, made the announcemet to that effect at a meeting of Roosevelt delegates in the Florentine room of the Congress hotel. The announcement aroused the wildest excitement among the delegates of whom there were present [illegible]. At the height of the excitement Colonel Roosevelt entered the room. He asked the delegates to withhold judgment and to delay decision until he had ascertained certain facts.

The meeting was called just as soon as the Republican leaders heard that the Roosevelt members of the national committee had left the meeting of that body in the Coliseum. As soon as the meeting was called to order Flinn, chairman of the delegation, got up on a desk and addressed the delegates. He said in part:

"Many of you have heard personally or through the newspapers of the action of the national committee in not seating our coming here. Their actions since our arrival are not altogether unexpected. We won't have them any longer. If this thing is to continue, what is the use of holding a national convention? Why don't we turn it over to Penrose, Tom Murphy, Big Steve and Scott, and let the postmasters do their business themselves?"

At that there were cries of "porch climbers," "burglars," to which Mr. Flinn replied, "You can't beat them."

At this point a member of the credentials committee from Maryland got to his feet and said, with upraised arm, that he had just left the meeting.

Colonel Roosevelt was brought into the room and said: "I am going to ask you to take a recess until I can get certain facts which I which to lay before you. I earnestly counsel you not to discuss this matter until I am able to put the facts before you."

"But I can tell you the general outline of the course which I intend to pursue. I will never recognize as a Republican convention a body of which the majority, in an essential part, was composed of fraudulently seated delegates. It is not the Republican party. I hold that this is no case of ordinary faction fight."

Committee Organizes.

Chicago, June 20.—It was the original intention of the credentials committee to hold an all-night session to hear arguments in contests involving the seats of 122 delegates. The Roosevelt people apparently felt that they might be able to nominate Colonel Roosevelt for president if they could get these 72 delegates, the seats of whom were awarded by the national committee to delegates who favor President Taft's renomination.

Before the national committee there were contests involving the seats of 254 delegates, of which 234 were awarded to President Taft and 20 to Colonel Roosevelt, which means that the colonel has dropped contests for the seats of 132 delegates.

The committee met immediately after the convention adjourned, and then took a recess for dinner, after electing as chairman Thomas E. Devine of Pueblo, Colo., by a vote of 30 to 18, his opponent being W. S. Lauder of Washington S. D., for whom the Roosevelt members of the committe voted. Neither Mr. Devine nor Mr. Lauder voted on the roll call, so that the Taft strength on the credentials committee is 33 and the Roosevelt strength 19, or four more than the average Roosevelt strength on the old Republican national committee, which heald the contests first. This vote also indicates the anti-organization strength on the new committee to be chosen by this convention will be about 19 out of the 52 members of the committee.

Indicates Taft Control.

It also indicates that the credentials committee will, in nearly every contest, seat the Taft delegates, in view of the action of the convention itself, it refusing to change the decision of the national committee on any of these contests.

The members of the credentials committee are: Alabama, Buch; Arizona, Adams; Arkansas, Granger; California, Heney; Colorado, Devine; Connecticut, Roraback; Delaware, Mitchell; Florida, MacFarlane. Georgia, Blun; Idaho, St. Clair; Illinois, McCormick; Indiana, Hemenway; Iowa, Devitt; Kansas, Harris; Kentucky, Gavin; Louisiana, Cohen; Maine, Libby; Maryland, Carrington; Massachusetts, no choice, deadlock; Michigan, Atwood; Minnesota, Halbert; Mississippi, Mosley; Missouri, Tolerton; Montana, Lanstrom; Nebraska, Sackett; Nevada, Roberts; New Hampshire, Estabrook; New Jersey, Avis; New Mexico, Seaberg; New York, Maltby; North Carolina, Cowles; North Dakota, Lauder; Ohio, Sullivan; Oklahoma, Norton; Oregon, Swift; Pennsylvania Mitchell; Rhode Island, Lawton; South Carolina, Tolbert; South Dakota, Way; Tennessee, Early; Texas, Warnken; Utah, Spry; Vermont, Estey; Virginia, Summers; Washington, Dovell; West Virginia, Shaw; Wisconsin, Cady; Wyoming, Mondell; Alaska, Shackleford; District of Columbia, Bradshaw; Hawaii, Rice; Philippines, Hartigan; Porto Rico, Behn.

Roosevelt's Platform.

Chicago, June 20.—The principal planks of the Roosevelt platform to be submitted to the platform committee are:

Direct primaries for the election of candidates for president and United States senators; revision of the tariff in accordance with the findings of a tariff board; an industrial committee to report the benefits which workingmen derive from the protective tariff; the appointment of a central national body, similar to the interstate commerce commission to enforce publicity of the affairs of large corporations and to regulate their methods of conducting business; a revision and strengthening of the monetary laws, with a view to making the financial system of the country more responsive to modern demands and condemning any plan that would result in a centralization of credit; the addition of two battleships every year to the navy, and the re-establishment of the country life and the conservation commission.

Heney Changes Mind.

Chicago, June 20.—Francis J. Heney of California led a revolt of the 19 Roosevelt members of the credentials committee. Heney, addressing the committee, said:

"The Roosevelt contesting delegates will have a hearing in the Florentine room in the annex at once. We have left the meeting room inside because they have passed a resolution limiting the hearing in all contests to five minutes for each district, with 10 minutes permitted for arguments in general contests. We will not stand for this and we don't consider it any hearing at all."

After Mr. Heney and his colleagues on the credentials committee left the committee room, Jesse Tolerton of Jefferson City, Mo., came to the doors of the committee room and, swinging them open, with both arms aloft, cried, "You newspaper men, come in."

The newspaper men filed into the room, but were quickly obliged to retire, because the committee had not yet passed upon the question of admitting them. The spectators in the anteroom also swarmed through the doors and the police had to be called in to quell what promised to be an incipient riot. Mr. Heney and his colleagues were gone about long enough to go up to the Congress annex and back, when he returned with Chairman Dixon of the Roosevelt committee, who apparently was preventing him from bolting prematurely. Mr. Heney and his colleagues went back in the committee room at 11 o'clock.

Shortly after Mr. Heney left the convention hall it was announced the committee had changed its plan and agreed to give 15 minutes for each district hearing and 30 minutes for each state hearing, the same that the national committee allowed to hear all contests.

Hadley Loses Out.

Chicago [illegible] arguments for and against the motion of Governor Hadley of Missouri to strike from the temporary roll, as prepared by the national committee, the delegates whose seats were contested before the committee to the number of some 78 and to put in their places on that roll the contestants, was begun as soon as the convention had been called to order by Senator Root. Mr. Root stated that through an agreement between Governor Hadley and Representative Watson of Indiana, each side would have an hour and a half to present its case. Governor Hadley was the first speaker. He was greeted with much applause.

After a lengthy and acrimonious debate, former Congressman Watson moved to refer the Hadley motion to the committee on credentials.

Governor Deneen of Illinois moved an amendment to Watson's motion that no delegate whose status was in question could not be allowed to vote in the selection of the members of the committee on credentials or on the report of that committee. This amendment was in the interests of the Roosevelt contingent.

Mr. Watson then moved to table the Deneen amendment. This brought the whole matter fairly and squarely before the convention. If Deneen's amendment was tabled it meant a defeat for the Roosevelt contingent. If Deneen's amendment was not tabled it meant that the Roosevelt contingent had won in their contention. It meant that none of the contested delegates could vote and it meant ultimately a clear-cut majority in the convention for the Roosevelt men.

Deneen's amendment was tabled by a vote of 564 to 510. The convention then adjourned until today noon after the committees on credentials, resolutions and minor committees of the convention were appointed.

THE PEDIGREE OF THE HORSE

Geologists Complete Distinguished Genealogy of Equine.

Geologists have finally completed a distinguished genealogy for the horse. Here is the list, with the geological eras in which each lived as arranged by Professor W. N. Rice:

The line of descent begins with Hyracotherium and Eohippus of the lower Eocene age. They follow Protorohippus and Orohippus of the middle Eocene, Epihippus of the upper Eocene, Mesohippus of the Oligocene, Anchitherium of the lower Miocene, Parahippus, Protohippus and Pliohippus of the middle and upper Miocene, and finally Equus of the Pliocene and the Quaternary, from which the modern horse directly decsends. Hipparion and Hippidium represented ancient side branches that died without descendants.—New York Sun.

HUGHES AND HADLEY BOOM

Is Started by Delegates from New York.

THEY ASK BARNES TO DESERT TAFT

Declare Their State Is Wasting Its Vote.

Another Delegate, a Neighbor of Roosevelt, Says Colonel Told Him Last Week That He Did Not Expect To Be Nominated—Waters Are Still Troubled—War Grows More Tense.

Chicago, June 20.—A movement started this afternoon for the nomination of Charles Evans Hughes, of New York, for president with Herbert S. Hadley, of Missouri, as the candidate for vice president, when Delegates Cox and Carr, of New York, went to William Barnes, Jr., leader of their delegation, and demanded that he quit throwing his strength for Taft and divert it to Hughes and Hadley.

The two delegates told the New York leader the state was wasting its vote and they had assurances from many delegations that they would follow the lead of New York in naming the new ticket and settling the troubled waters of the party. H. S. Brush, one of the Long Island delegates, said:

"Colonel Roosevelt is my neighbor. He told me last week that he did not expect to be nominated, and I believe that he will agree to the selection of Governor Hughes and Governor Hadley."

What's the Use?

Personally, I think that no stronger ticket can be named, and I have talked with many of the New York delegates who agree that this is the only proper way out of the situation.

"Barnes told Delegate Cox that he did not think Taft could be elected if he was nominated. What is the use of nominating a man the leaders say can not be elected. I am for Taft as things now stand, but would not have voted for the tabling of the Hadley resolution because I think there are some men in the list who ought not to be there."

There is a well-defined idea among the New York delegates that the picking of Hughes and Hadley is due to Senator Elihu Root, the temporary chairman of the convention. It is stated that he has been in frequent conference with party leaders of the East and that he has outlined to them the program of substituting Hughes and Hadley.

A Fairbanks Boom.

Chicago, June 20.—Mayor Lewis Shank, of Indianapolis, an Indiana delegate, was quoted this afternoon as saying that the Taft delegates from this state had been released by the president and intended starting a boom for Fairbanks at the sssion of the convention today or tomorrow.

James Watson, Taft leader of Indiana, denied absolutely that such release had been made and said that he knew of no boom for the former vice president.

IS NOT AUTHORIZED TO WITHDRAW NAME

Crane Denies Stories Concerning President Quitting Race.

Chicago, June 20.—Senator Murray Crane, of Massachusetts, this afternoon denied that he had been authorized to withdraw the name of President Taft as a candidate for renomination before the Republican national convention in case the Roosevelt faction bolts or the colonel is hopelessly beaten.

"I have not received instructions from President Taft to withdraw his name, and there is no movement on foot to throw the Massachusetts delegation to a third candidate," said Crane.

Crane made this statement while a conference of the Massachusetts delegation was under way.

SPLIT OF THE RULES COMMITTEE

Filing of Minority Report Expected This Afternoon.

Chicago, June 20.—Splitting of the rules committee and the filing of a minority report with the convention was expected this afternoon to follow today's meeing of the committee. Ten and possibly more of the states will sign the minority report.

Equalization of representation, the synonym employed by the minority members of the committee to cut down the representation of southern states in the national convention and the changing of the rule providing for the manner of selecting delegates, are the points on which the committee split.

Mix with this sufficient rice powder to produce the desired shade. Shake the lace into this, and after removing, brush away all loose dust. The lace will retain the yellowish tint indefinitely.

THE WOMAN AVIATOR KILLED IN ILLINOIS

Julia Clark, who was twenty-three years old, and the third woman in America to receive a license of an aeroplane pilot, was killed at Springfield, Illinois, several days ago, when against the advice of more experienced aviators, she attempted a flight while it was almost dark. While trying to make a short turn at the end of the aviation field, her craft caught on a far-reaching branch of a tree and she was dashed to the ground. Her skull was crushed. She died in an ambulance which was rushing her to the hospital.

ed to yesterday's demonstration at the convention as proof that the "show me" statesman could excite the enthusiasm of the Republicans, a thing absolutely necessary if the Democratic candidate were to be beaten this year.

Reports that Hadley had warned Colonel Roosevelt that he would not consider bolting the convention gave him standing among the rank and file of the Taft delegates, who were strongly impressed by the governor's generalship in the convention, though beaten.

Rumors emanating from the Taft camp were that Hadley would be offered the vice presidential nomination if the original Taft program were adhered to and the president was renominated.

Do Not Expect Bolt.

Chicago, June 20.—Supporters of the Cummins faction do not expect a walkout of the Roosevelt delegates.

A bolt that will operate within the Coliseum is their prediction.

Following a conference of the Cummins Iowa delegates, which ended at 11 o'clock this morning, C. S. Wilcox the leader, outlined a plan of campaign to the Cummins followers.

The Cummins men were formed into a committee to erect presidential lightning rods in the thick of delegates.

"Remember," said Mr. Wilcox, "we are not fighting anything or anybody in particular. We are merely suggesting Cummins as the solution to the problem at present."

Roosevelt's declaration last night that "I am through" was construed by the Cummins men that he was willing to surrender in favor of a compromise man.

FAIRBANKS IS THE CHAIRMAN

Resolutions Committee Drafting the Platform.

PLANK BEARERS ARE IN EVIDENCE

Samuel Gompers One of First on Hand.

Committee Appoints Sub-Committee To Work on the Real Platform. Hadley, of Missouri, May Present Roosevelt's Platform to the Sub-Committee—Tentative Draft of Taft's Platform Is Received.

Chicago, June 20.—The resolutions committee met promptly to draft the party platform.

The platform committee, it was figured out from the vote, stood 43 to 19 for the Taft side, with Massachusetts not represented. The committee elected Ex-Vice President Fairbanks as its chairman. He was the unanimous choice of the members, and so was W. D. Lewis of Pennsylvania for secretary. The committee then appointed this sub-committee to work on the real platform: Chester H. Rowell, California; Charles Hopkins Clark, Connecticut; H. S. Hadley, Missouri, William Barnes, Jr., New York; William Draper Lewis, Pennsylvania, George Sutherland, Utah; D. Lawrence Groner, Virginia; C. W. Fairbanks, Indiana, and H. Clay Evans of Tennessee. On the sub-committee the Roosevelt side had only three of the nine members, representing California, Missouri and Pennsylvania.

It is said that Governor Hadley of Missouri would present Mr. Roosevelt's platform to the sub-committee, and if the sub-committee rejected it, he would appeal to the full committee. A tentative draft of the Taft platform is in the hands of Charles Hopkins Clark of Hartford, Conn.

Labor Leaders Present.

The sub-committee did not get at its labors until very late, because it was decided that the petitioners for planks who stood outside the room waiting for a chance to present them would be heard by the full committee. There were any number of these plank-bearers, as usual, including Samuel Gompers and a committee from the American Federation of Labor and a committee of the woman's suffragists, including Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago. Mr. Gompers and his associates were the first to be heard. They had a number of planks looking to improvement of conditions of laboring men.

Mr. Gompers and his committee talked for a full half hour before the full committee. When he came out he admitted that the outlook for his planks was not very encouraging.

The members of the committee are: Alabama, J. J. Curtis; Arizona, J. T. Williams, Jr.; Arkansas, H. H. Myers; California Chester H. Powell; Colorado, A. M. Stevenson; Connecticut, Charles H. COURTS TAKEN AS TEXT OF MR. ROOT'S SPEECH

Temporary Chairman Pleads for Better Safeguards.

FINANCE AND INCOME TAX ARE DISCUSSED

Root Reviews at Length the Achievements of the Taft Administration, Which He Characterizes as Sound and Progressive — Tariff and Trusts Discussed.

Chicago, June 19.—An extended address reviewing the questions of the day was made before the Republican national convention by Senator Elihu Root of New York, when he assumed the role of temporary chairman. Mr. Root's speech was a strong plea for the safeguarding of the courts and the constitution. He mentioned Colonel Roosevelt once or twice, praising him as the evangel who had awakened the popular conscience and started the great work of reform which, he said, had been carried on quietly and effectively by President Taft.

The temporary chairman reviewed at length the achievements of the Taft administration, which he characterized as sound and progressive. He pleaded for harmony and for the subordination of individual ambitions and desires to the interests of the Republican party. He was especially urgent against popular interference with the courts and with the present representative form of government.

Senator Root said:

The struggle for leadership in the Republican party which has so long engrossed the attention and excited the feelings of its members is about to be determined in the selection of a candidate. The various claims for recognition in the political creed of the party are about to be settled by the adoption of a platform.

Party's Appeal.

The supreme council of the party in this great national convention, representing every state and territory in due proportion, according to rules long since established, is about to appeal to the American people for a continuance of the power of government which the party has exercised with but brief interruptions for more than half a century, and that appeal is to be based upon the soundness of the principles approved and the qualities of the candidates selected by the convention.

In the performance of this duty by the convention, and in the acceptance of its conclusions by Republicans, is to be applied the ever recurring test of the party's fitness to govern, its coherence and its formation and controlling power of organization. And these depend upon the willingness of the members of the party to subordinate their varying individual opinions and postpone the matters of difference between them in order that they may act in unison upon the great questions wherein they agree, upon their willingness and capacity to thrust aside the disappointment which some of them must always feel in failing to secure success for the candidates of their preference, upon the loyalty of party members to the party itself, to the great organization whose agency in government they believe to be for the best interests of the nation, and for whose continuance in power their love of country constrains them to labor.

Without these things there can be no party worthy of the name. Without them party association is a rope of sand, party organization is an ineffective form, party responsibility disappears, and with it disappears the right to public confidence.

Parties Necessary.

Without organized parties, having those qualities of coherence and loyalty, free popular government becomes a confused and continual conflict between a vast multitude of individual opinions individual interests, individual attractions and repulsions, from which effective government can emerge only by answering to the universal law of necessary organization and again forming parties.

Throughout our party's history in each presidential election we have gone to the American people with the confident and just assertion that the Republican party is not a mere fortuitous collection of individuals, but is a coherent and living force as an organization. It is effective, responsible, worthy of confidence, competent to govern. The traditions of its great struggles for liberty, for the supremacy of law, for the preservation of constitutional government, for national honor, exercise a controlling influence upon its conduct. The purpose of its originators has been transmitted by spiritual succession from generation to generation of party leaders, and it is no idle rhetoric when we say, as we have so often said, and are about to say again to the American people:

We are entitled to your belief in the sincerity of the principles we profess and the loyalty of our candidates to those principles, because we are the party of Lincoln, and Sumner, and Seward, and Andrew, and Morton, and Grant, and Hayes and Garfield, and Arthur, and Harrison, and Blaine, and Hoar and McKinley.

We claim that we are entitled to a popular vote of confidence at the coming election because we have demonstrated that we are the party of the affirmative, constructive policies for the betterment and progress of our country in all the fields upon which the activity and influence of government can rightly enter. We claim it because we are the party of honest, efficient and economical administration in which public monies are faithfully applied, appointments are made on grounds of merit, efficient service is rigorously exacted, graft is reduced to a minimum, derelictions from official duty are sternly punished and a high standard of official morality is maintained and promoted.

Claims of the Party.

We claim it because we have maintained and promoted peace with the world, and the dignity, honor and just interests of the United States among the nations. We claim it because our party stands now as it has ever stood, for order and liberty, and for the maintenance of the constitutional system of government through which a self-controlled democracy for more than a century has established against all detractors the competency of the American people to govern themselves in law-abiding prosperity.

We challenge the judgment of the American people on the policies of McKinley and Roosevelt and Taft.

President Taft in his speech of acceptance on July 28, 1908, paid a just tribute to the great service rendered by his predecessor in awakening the public conscience, inaugurating reforms, and saving the country from the dangers of a plutocratic government. He instanced the railroad rate law, the prevention of railroad rebates and discriminations, the enforcement of the anti-trust law, the pure food law, the meat inspection law, the general supervision and control of transportation companies, the conservation of natural resources, and he proceeded to say:

"The chief function of the next administration, in my judgment, is distinct from and a progressive development of that which has been performed by President Roosevelt. The chief function of the next administration is to complete and perfect the machinery by which the lawbreakers may be promptly restrained and punished, but which shall operate with sufficient accuracy and dispatch to interfere with legitimate business as little as possible."

There spoke the voice of two Republican administrations, and the promise of that declaration has been faithfully observed with painstaking and assiduous care. The Republican administration which is now drawing to a close has engaged in completing and perfecting the machinery, in applying the standards and working out the practical results of established Republican policies, including also the McKinley policies of a protective tariff and sound finances.

Service of this kind is not spectacular. It receives little public attention and little credit until the public mind is turned to a careful study of the subject, but it is of the highest importance. Great constructive national policies are not established by simple declaration or mere legislation or in a single day or in a single year. They always change conditions in order to better them. They encounter inveterate abuses. They are opposed and evaded in practice. They require to be applied and enforced by a strong hand, a firm will. They require to be perfected by administration and supplemental legislation.

The Tariff.

Under Republican administrations there has been one unbroken, continuous course of consistent policy and effective performance in dealing with the evils which have been naturally incident to the amazing industrial changes of our generation, the vast creation of new wealth, the increase of our population and the expansion of our commerce. It rests with the American electorate to say whether they will permit these minor dissatisfactions which are inseparable from all human performance and the desire for change by which all men are sometimes affected, to obscure in their judgments the wisdom of continuing the execution of these policies and the evil of an untried party for a new departure in governmental experiment.

The Republican party stands now, as McKinley stood, for a protective tariff, while the Democratic party stands against the principle of protection and for a tariff for revenue only. We stand not for the abuses of the tariff, but for the beneficent uses. No tariff can be devised so moderate, so reasonable that it will not be rejected by the Democratic party, provided its duties be adjusted with reference to labor cost so as to protect American products against being driven out of the market by foreign underselling, made possible through the lower rate of wages in other countries.

The American foreign merchant service has been driven off the face of the waters because, with American sailors' wages and the American standard of living it could not compete with foreign shipping. The Democratic party proposes to put American mills and factories and mines in the same position, and the American people have now to say whether they wish that to be done.

I have said that we do not stand for the abuses of the tariff. The chief cause of abuse has been that we have outgrown our old method of tariff-making. Our productive industries have become too vast and complicated, our commercial relations too extensive for any committee of congress of itself to get at the facts to which the principle of protection may be properly applied. The Republican party proposes to remedy this defective method through having the facts ascertained by an impartial commission through thorough scientific investigation, so that the president and congress shall have the basis for the just application of the principle of protection.

The Republican congress included in the Payne-Aldrich bill a clause under which the president had authority to appoint such a board to make such investigations and report to results to him. The president appointed the board. Its members are drawn from both political parties. Their competency, integrity and fairness is unquestioned. They have reported upon the woolen schedule, they have reported upon the cotton schedule. The president has transmitted their findings to congress.

The Democratic house of representatives ignores and repudiates them. In January, 1911, the last Republican house of representatives passed a bill to create a tariff commission with much broader and more effective powers for compelling the attendance of witnesses and securing information, charged to reports its findings to the congress. The bill passed the senate with some amendment, but it was delayed there by an avowed Democratic filibuster until it reached the house so late in the session that a vote upon it was prevented by another Democratic filibuster in the house.

Tariff Commission.

Now the house is Democratic and the tariff commission bill is dead. The Democratic party does not want the facts upon which a just protective measure can be framed, because they mean that there shall be no protection for American industries. In the last session and in the present session of congress the Democratic house has framed and passed a series of tariff bills for revenue only, with complete indifference to the absolute destruction that their enactment would bring upon great American industries. Some of them have fallen by the wayside in the senate and some of them have gone to the president to meet his wise and courageous veto. The American people have now to pass, not upon the abuses of the tariff but upon the fundamental principles of protection.

The national currency, which the election of McKinley rescued from disaster at the hand of a free silver Democracy, still rests upon the civil war basis of government bonds, and is no longer adapted to our changed conditions. It is inelastic; its volume does not expand and contract according to legitimate demands of business. It subjects us to constant danger of panics which begin in speculation and end in paralyzing business. It facilitates and promotes the arbitrary control of a small group of banks and bankers with enormous capital, and tends to an undue concentration of the money in the country in a few great money centers.

Any possible remedy involves the study of world-wide finance, because we are no longer isolated and money flows from city to city and country to country in accordance with the laws of demand and supply and the attraction of interest rates. No congress could, by its ordinary methods, get beyond the surface of the vast and complicated problem, yet the working out of a new system adapted to American conditions is of vital importance to the prosperity of the country and the security of every business and of every man whose support is directly or indirectly dependent upon American business.

Finance and Income Tax.

For the solution of this question the policy of the Republican party established a monetary commission, which has made a most thorough and exhaustive study of the financial systems of all civilized nations, of the relations to our own system, and the needs of American business. The commission has reported a bill for the establishment of a new system of reserve associations, under which the currency will be elastic, the business of the country will find a ready scale for its commercial paper, the people of the country at large will exercise control, instead of a little group of large bankers and the dangers of panics will disappear. The president has recommended the conclusions of the commission to congress, where the proposed bill is under consideration. It is for the interest of every business man in the United States that the party controlling the government shall not be changed until this policy has been carried into execution.

In order that the burdens of government support may in time of need be more justly proportioned to the means of our citizens, the last Republican congress submitted to the legislatures of the states an income tax amendment of the constitution, and at the same time, upon the recommendation of the president, enacted a law—which has been sustained by the supreme court—imposing a tax upon corporations, measured by their income, so that this vast fund of invested capital may bear its fair share of the public burdens. At the rate of only 1 per cent upon corporate income, the receipts from this source during the past year amounted to over $30,000,000.

Interstate Commerce Commission.

Upon the recommendation of the president, the powers of the interstate commerce commission have been greatly enlarged and their control over railroad rates and railroad service made more effective. Railroad rebates have been vigorously prosecuted and the imposition of large fines has substantially ended the practice. Upon prosecutions of railroad discriminations and fraudulent importations at the custom house, under the vigorous treatment of the treasury department and the department of justice the fines and recoveries of the past three years have amounted to over $9,000,000.

The prosecution of trusts and combinations in violation of the Sherman act has proceeded with extraordinary vigor and success. The Standard Oil company has been dissolved by a suit begun under Roosevelt and brought to a successful conclusion under Taft through a judgment in exact accordance with the prayer of the complainant. The Tobacco company has been dissolved and its property scattered among 14 different companies, with stringent injunctions against common control, which, in the unanimous opinion of the four judges of the circuit court of appeals, were fully adequate to accomplish the relief demanded.

Trust Prosecutions.

The beef packers, the wholesale grocers, the lumber dealers, the wire makers, the window glass pool, the electric lamp combination, the bathtub trust, the shoe machinery trust, the foreign steamship pool, the sugar company, the steel corporation, the harvester company all have been made to feel the heavy hand of the law through suits or indictments against restraints and monopolies.

Throughout that wide field in which the conditions of modern industrial life require that government shall intervene in the name of social justice for the protection of the wage earner, the Republican national administrations, in succession have done their full, enlightened and progressive duty to the limit of the national power under the constitution.

The act of March 4, 1907, to regulate the hours of service of railroad employes, passed under the Roosevelt administration has been sustained in the supreme court under the Taft administration and has been enforced by more than 1,500 prosecutions during the past three years. A valid and effective employers' liability act applying to all interstate commerce was passed by a Republican congress on April 5, 1910, and under the Republican administration its constitutionality has been sustained by the supreme court.

Upon the president's recommendation a joint commission was created by congress to study the subject of workmen's compensation for injuries. It was composed of members of both houses, with a representative of the railroads and representative of labor, and after exhaustive examination and hearings the commission framed a bill which was approved by all the great labor organizations and which was passed by a Republican senate at the present session against the opposition of a majority of the Democratic senators. That bill still slumbers in the Democratic judiciary committee of the house.

RUMOR HAS NEW OHIO ARCHDIOCESE

Bishop Farrelly Is To Be Made an Archbishop.

Rumor of Cleveland as the seat of an archdiocese in the Catholic church, with the Most Rev. John P. Farrelly, bishop of Cleveland, as archbishop, received corroboration yesterday, says the Toledo Blade.

Not least in interest is a statement in the Osservatore Romano, official organ of the Vatican at Rome, which tells of the Holy Father's plan to organize several new provinces in America.

Although it is against precedent to have more than one archdiocesan city in a province, Catholics in Cleveland admit it is not unlikely that a new departure may be made in this case, both because of the Vatican's attitude toward America and the friendly and fiduciary relations between His Holiness and Bishop Farrelly.

This creation probably would mean the breaking up of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, one of the largest in the country. The probable membership of the new province would be the present sees of Cleveland, Detroit, Ft. Wayne, Grand Rapids, Indianapolis and Toledo.

Lighning played a peculiar prank near Hepburn, Friday afternoon, during a heavy rain storm that visited that section of the country. Mrs. Banning soon recovered.

The storm was not severe electrically, and no other damage is reported from that vicinity.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE CROPS IN OHIO

Wheat Production Will Be Lowest in Many Years.

LESS THAN SEVEN BUSHELS TO ACRE

Much of the Crop Will Not Pay for the Harvesting—Corn Planting Is Delayed by the Bad Weather. The Hay Crop Will Be Short—The Other Crops.

The following report is compiled from returns received from 1,113 official correspondents of the department of agriculture of Ohio.

Wheat, prospect compared with normal yield, 45 per cent.; original area seeded, 1,918,760 acres; area abandoned this spring, 44 per cent.; area remaining for harvest, 1,079,894 acres.

Oats, prospect compared with normal yield, 95 per cent.

Rye, prospect compared with normal yield, 76 per cent.

Winter Barley, prospect compared with normal yield, 55 per cent.

Spring Barley, prospect compared with normal yield, 91 per cent.

Clover, prospect compared with normal yield, 64 per cent.

Timothy, prospect compared with normal yield, 80 per cent.; damage by grub worn, 4 per cent.

Hogs, fed for summer markets, 43 per cent.; condition compared with an average, 91 per cent.

Spring pigs, number saved compared with an average, 80 per cent.

Sheep, condition compared with an average, 92 per cent.

Lambs, number saved compared with an average, 88 per cent.

Fruit, prospect compared with normal yield, 63 per cent.

The average prices are: Wheat, a bushel, $1.12; corn, 81c; barley, 93c; oats, 59c; rye, 90c; potatoes, $1.53; hay a ton, $24.84.

Ohio's 1912 wheat production will be the lowest in a number of years. Present prospects indicate that the average production an acre will be less than seven bushels. Under normal conditions general state average production an acre should be fifteen bushels. Not only will the production an acre be low, but the report shows that forty-four per cent. of the original area seeded last fall has been abandoned. This leaves but 1,079,894 acres remaining, and as many fields are in such poor condition that they will not pay for harvesting, the area will show a further decline from the acreage above quoted. Many of these fields were left standing on account of the high-priced grass seed sown with the wheat, and will be cut for hay. The total harvest will not far exceed 7,000,000 bushels. In 1911, the total wheat production was 31,092,382 bushels. The present average price of wheat a bushel is $1.12. Following we quote some of Ohio's lowest wheat productions an acre: 1866, eight and one-half bushels; 1875, nine bushels; 1884, ten bushels; 1895, twelve bushels; 1896, eight and one-half bushels; 1900, six bushels.

Oats prospects are satisfactory, being estimated at ninety-five per cent. based upon thirty bushels an acre, representing 100 per cent. Dry weather during the past three weeks has retarded its growth and some fields are showing yellow spots.

Corn planting is late. A large acreage remains to be planted. Many early planted fields are being replanted owing to poor seed and some rotting of seed. Correspondents note damage by chinch bugs.

The hay crop will be short, last season's drouth killing many new meadows, and some of the old meadows are now overrun with white top and sorrel.

Owing to high price of feed, pigs are scarce. Many farmers are selling off their pigs, due to cholera scare.

Generally, fruit prospects are good. In some localities apples are dropping badly.

APPORTIONMENT OF DELEGATES

We are not disposed to quarrel with the proposition to apportion the votes in a national convention upon the basis of votes cast at the preceding general election. The number of delegates from the states has been based upon the congressional apportionment, and that has been based, not upon the votes cast, but upon the population revealed by the census. It was held as to the congressional apportionment, by the fathers of the republic, that the great body of citizens, not voters, was entitled to representation in congress. The parties have accepted the congressional apportionment as the delegate basis upon the theory that the members of the party who were in the minority in some states, needed and deserved, because of the hopelessness of their struggle and the fact that they had so little of the local rewards and emoluments of office-holding, exceptional recognition and aid There have been many efforts in Republican conventions to change to the more-equitable basis of apportioning the delegates in accordance with the votes cast. These efforts have failed, because, as is well known, the new plan would deprive of party influence the members of the party who are disfranchised by local laws in the South. To enforce the Fourteenth amendment literally, might provoke another civil war and outrage customs, traditions and rare antogonisms as strong as life or death themselves. Therefor, the Republican party, responsible under its control of governmental affairs, compromised the whole matter in the interest of peace. But if the time has come that these considerations no longer have weight, then it would be well to make the change. But while doing so let the party come out and boldly insist upon the same change in the congressional apportionment.

THE NEW PROPOSALS SHOULD BE STUDIED

After this cruel war is over, we will have time to give a little much-needed attention to the loaded constitutional amendments some professional lobbyists are trying to slip over on us while we are not looking. There is much need of discrimination in considering the forty-two propositions we are asked to take snap judgment upon, September 3. A few of them can safely be approved, a few of them are vicious, a number of them are dangerously experimental and the rest belong in our statutes where they have always been The voter should carefully study them, taking the advice of no special advocates, vote for those which accord with his judgment and conscience and vote against every one he does not understand or which appears doubtful. The old constitution has been very serviceable, it has grown comfortable with use and familiarity and is not worn out. It may not be in the latest style, but it is in good shape. We have prospered under it and can continue to do it. If you think the proposed patches improve it, vote for them, but be sure that you are not doing damage instead of repairing it [illegible] Roosevelt's demand that [illegible]ested delegate should vote on a contest was the most unfair impugnable, in view of the fact that he had instituted, or caused to be instituted, something like 225 contests against Taft delegates, two-thirds of which were so utterly groundless that the fourteen Roosevelt members on the Republican national committee made their rejection unanimous The ruling of Temporary Chairman Root, that no contested delegate should vote on his own case, is eminently fair and acknowledged to be such by the fair-minded members of the Roosevelt faction. Had the colonel's plan been permitted to obtain, it would simply have permitted his minority to rule the convention.

It is hardly probable that any presidential candidate of the future will ever institute bogus contests against his opponent's delegates. Of course, the taking of delegates from the columns of an opponent and placing them in the contested column—a plan utilized for the first time in political history, this campaign, by the Roosevelt people—gave the colonel an apparent show of strength and may have mislead some people, but had the colonel been so much like the late Abraham Lincoln as he claimed, he would have known that it is impossible "to fool all the people all the time"

Whatever the result of the convention and the succeeding elections, we [illegible] find compensations in the disappearance of that uncouth person [illegible] Heney, and his cheap and disgusting imitation of T. R.

The woman who fails to say "because" must have another excuse.

THIEVES GAIN NOTHING BY RAIDING OFFICE

Are Unable To Work Combination to the Safe.

BIG FOUR FREIGHT OFFICE IS ENTERED

Burned Matches Tell the Story of Visit, but Nothing Is Missing. Four Fellows Are Taken to the Dayton Workhouse by the Chief of Police—Police Notes.

Report was made to the police, Thursday morning that the Big Four freight office had been broken into Wedensday night Entrance was gained to the office by breaking in the door Nothing was missing from the office when the place was opened, that morning Burned matches in front of the safe indicated that an attempt had been made to work the combination, but this was not accomplished It is evident that the burglars were only after money, as the freight department was not disturbed.

After entering pleasof not guilty to charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct, Edward Mortel, Michael Shea, Charles Tobin and Terrance Mortel asked for the privilege of changing their pleas, and were arraigned for the second time, Wednesday evening. Each of the men pleaded guilty to the charge against them, and each was fined $10 and costs, and sentenced to stand committed to the Dayton workhouse until the fine and costs are worked out.

William Maass, who was arrested with the four fellows named and pleaded guilty Wednesday, paid his fine and was released. The father of Michael Shea came to his rescue, and secured the release of his son by settling with the mayor. The other three, together with Alta Green, who was arrested for intoxication, were taken to the workhouse, Thursday by Chief McDonough and Officer Slagle.

Harry Hansen, who was arrested, Wednesday noon, at the Erie roundhouse by Officer Thompson for attempting to clean out the place while in a state of intoxication, was arraigned before the mayor, Wednesday evening Hansen was held to answer to a charge of intoxication to which he pleaded guilty and was fined five dollars and costs. He paid the bill. With the eye that Hansen carried, as a result of coming in contact with the fist of Harry Dilsaver, the mayor believed he had been sufficiently punished.

Miss Bronson, a demonstrator at the grocery of R. T. Lewis & Company, reported to the police, Thursday, that she had lost her purse containing about $30. The purse was lost either between the grocery and Anthony's laundry, or on south State street.

BAD DEALS BLOCKED BY KEENER'S ARREST

Found Guilty of Getting Cash by False Pretenses.

SOME DEALS IN WHICH THE MAN IS INVOLVED

A Statement as to a Gigantic Bond Deal Which It Is Claimed Was Only Prevented by the Apprehension of Former Marion Man. Some Other Deals.

The Ohio State Journal of Thursday morning says in regard to a former Marion man

A gigantic fake bond deal, in which a local bank is said to have been the prospective purchaser, was only blocked, it is said, by the arrest of J. E Keener on a charge of obtaining property under false pretenses, and for which a jury yesterday found him guilty. The deal is said to have amounted to $120,000, and so well is Keener said to have had the scheme engineered that the bank officials, before his arrest, had passed upon a majority of the bonds.

Another transaction which was blocked by Keener's arrest is said to have been the proposed sale of property at King avenue and High street, in which he holds an equity. He is alleged to have been almost ready to close a sale of the property as free of incumbrances, for $35,000 but on which there was a mortgage for $25,000.

The charge on which he was found guilty was for obtaining $1,050 worth of jewelry from C. A. Mitchell of Fair avenue.

He gave in payment a $250 check on a fake New York bank and the remaining $800 in checks indorsed by the Mt. Victory Light company by J. L. Housten. He represented that Mr. Housten was the owner of the light plant, which he was not.

Five confederates of Keener, one an attorney and another J. L. Housten, are said to be under indictment in Chicago on similar charges as that for which Keener was found guilty here. Keener also is wanted in Mansfield, where it is alleged he obtained about $8,000 fraudulently, and in Marion.

A lunacy affidavit, yesterday, was filed against Keener, but Drs. E. E. Gaver and D. W. Deuschle, who examined him, pronounced him sane. This proceeding in probate court had to be completed before the trial in criminal court could proceed.

THE CAMM WOMAN RETURNED TO WORKS

Picked Up in the Streets and Placed in Jail.

THE UNUSUAL CASE OF WOMAN'S RELEASE

Man Represents That He Is Justice Charles W. Haberman Over the Telephone and Orders Release of the Woman—She Is Released by Workhouse Superintendent.

Marie Phillips Camm, a bride of a few weeks, who was taken to the workhouse, Monday, June 3, was picked up on the street, late Wednesday afternoon, and locked in the county jail. She had been given her liberty by the workhouse superintendent, after he had talked to an individual whom he believed to be Justice Charles W. Haberman.

Now Justice Haberman, who was fishing all day Wednesday at the Lewistown reservoir, wants to know who the individual was that impersonated him over the telephone. Thursday, he received a letter from the workhouse superintendent, who told him all the circumstances.

The man who represented himself to be Justice Haberman over the telephone said that the woman's fine of $10 had been paid, and that the remainder of the sentence would be remitted.

The woman is the wife of James F. Camm, nineteen years old, whose mother resides at Columbia and Pearl streets. She says she has no idea who did the telephoning to Dayton in her behalf. When arrested she had a package of cigaret papers and tobacco.

Thursday afternoon, Constable J. F. Ullom eft with the prisoner for Dayton, where she will have to serve out her sentence.

CHARLES KELLER HAS VERY NARROW ESCAPE

Keller's Presence of Mind Saves His Life, Sunday.

Charles Keller, an Erie freight conductor, demonstrated his presence of mind in a remarkable fashion in an accident occurring in the Erie yards, Sunday. Keller was boarding a caboose in the yards when in some manner he slipped and fell beneath the caboose. The rear trucks were close upon him when he managed to hurl himself from his position to safety. Those who witnessed the accident declare that Keller's presence of mind was wonderful, and but for this fact he would have been ground to pieces beneath the wheels. The train was moving at a very fair rate of speed at the time of the accident. An engine was attached at the rear of the caboose. Keller was uninjured and suffered very little from the shock. He was able to continue his work. He resides at Huntington.

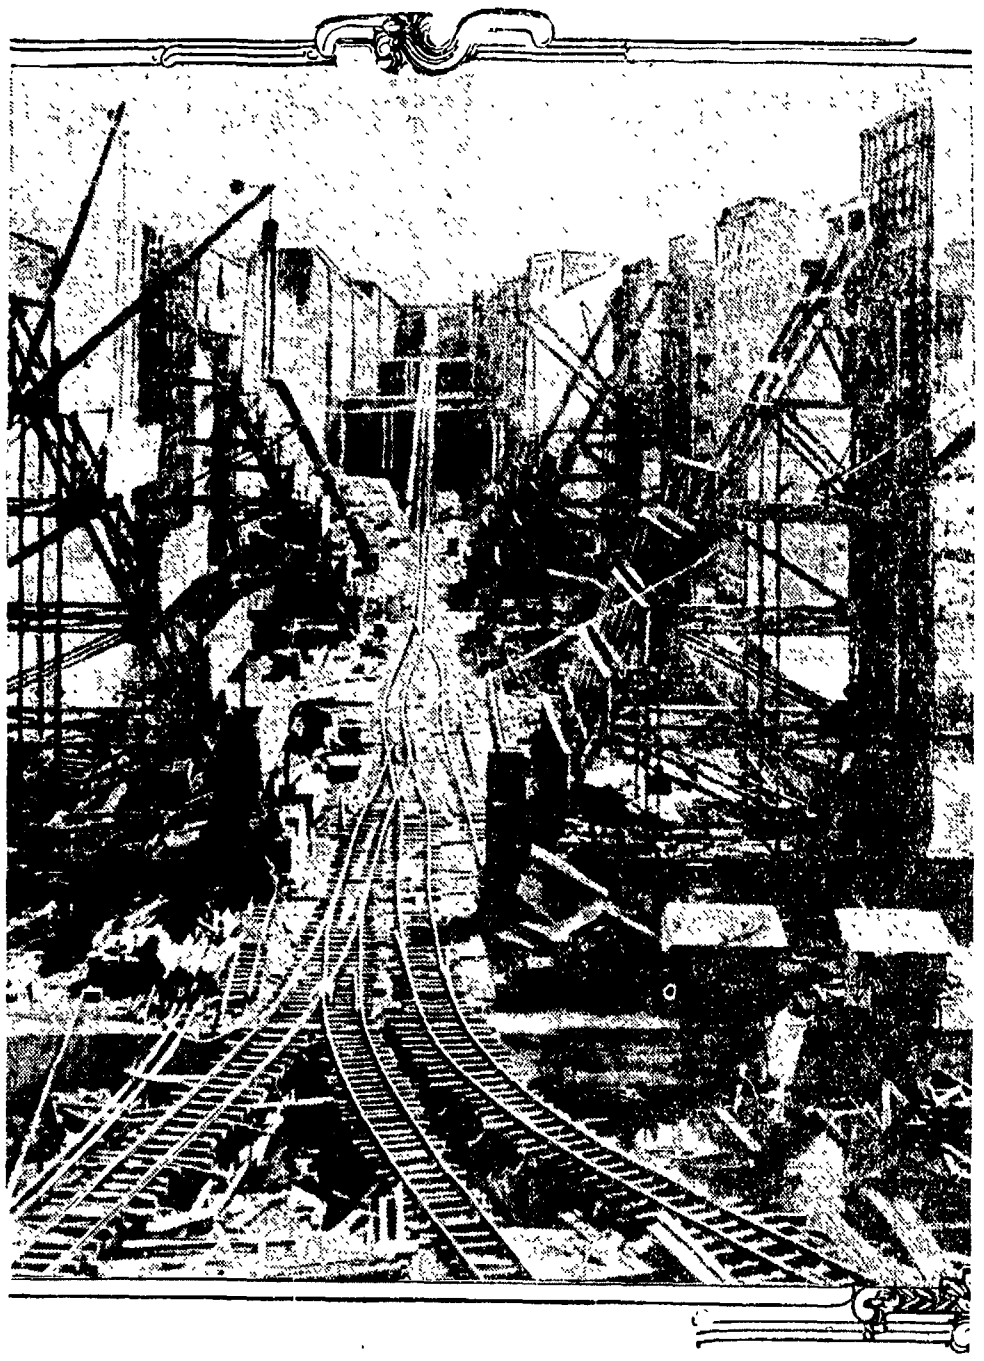
FIVE-SIXTHS OF THE EXCAVATION FOR THE GREAT WATERWAY THROUGH PANAMA HAS BEEN COMPLETED



Less than one-sixth of the entire amount of excavation for the Panama canal remains to be completed. At the present rate of work, in less than ten months, all excavation will be done and nothing will remain to finish except the locks and the general overhead work. Colonel Goethals expects to send the first vessel from the Atlantic to the Pacific through the canal in either August or September, 1913. This feat will not mean that the new waterway will be ready for the traffic of the world, but will be made as a test for the locks and operating forces. There will yet remain much work to be completed, and the formal opening of the canal for ships of commerce will be celebrated, January 1, 1915. The cut shows the last chamber of the great Gatun locks, looking south from the cofferdam. This is said to be the best picture ever taken of the locks.

THE STORM KING RAGES THROUGHOUT COUNTRY

Traffic Paralyzed by the Wind and Heavy Rain.

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT ABOUT $100,000

Many Interurban Passengers Are Marooned in the Country—A Great Deal of Damage Is Done at Delaware — Heavy Rainfall in Marion and Vicinity.

Shortly after the noon hour, Sunday, a storm of tornado proportions struck Delaware and vicinity, damaged property to the amount of approximately $100,000, completely paralyzed all interurban and street car traffic in this city, marooned scores of passengers in the country and put out of commission the pipe organs in local churches.

Late Sunday night, the high tension wire of the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Railway company was restored to service between Marion and Stratford, but the operation of cars between the two points has not been according to schedule Monday.

The one car operating between Marion and Bucyrus on the Columbus, Marion & Bucyrus line was caught midway between Bucyrus and Marion. Its passengers waited until 3 o'clock when power was secured from the Cleveland-Southwestern road and the car's passengers were brought to this city. They had passed the time singing and joking in a good humored way. Many of the passengers of the C., D. & M. cars were compelled to walk. Some telephoned to the nearest stations for livery rigs.

Walks His Prisoner.

Police Chief Spaulding, of Delaware, was returning to Delaware with a one-legged prisoner from Columbus. The car stalled at Glenmary park. He waited a long time and then walked to Delaware with his prisoner, a distance of fifteen miles. He said that many trees had blown across the C., D & M. tracks between Delaware and Glenmary and fifty to 100 poles razed.

Dr. E. H. Raffenspeger, the official weather observer for Marion and vicinity, reports a rainfall of 3.16 inches during the day In the morning he says the rainfall amounted to 2.35 inches and at the noon hour about .81.

Except for slight damages done by the heavy rainfall, Marion escaped damage by wind. The terrific windstorm appeared to sweep down upon Delaware and the section south of there. The Big and Little Scioto rivers were bulging.

Sufficient electric power was generated by the local power plant to supply the incandescent lights, and the are lamps a part of the time. Where the church services were being held a little later than usual at the noon hour, the big pipe organs, operated by electric power, stopped suddenly midst song service. None of them could be used at the evening services

Business Blocks Wrecked.

The storm unroofed several business blocks at Delaware, the falling timbers crashing in the fronts of several places of business on Winter and Sandusky streets. All telegraph and telephone wires were sent down, the high tension wires of the C., D. & M. being buried in a tangled mass. The work of reconstruction was made exceedingly dangerous. To avoid accident the streets were roped off.

Between 200 and 300 trees were razed in Delaware alone. All traffic on the C., D & M. is tied up between Delaware and Worthington and it required a day to clear the wreckage, according to information received from Delaware, Monday. Practically every street in Delaware was blocked Monday. Many residences were unroofed

The roof of St Mary's schoolhouse on Henry street was lifted bodily and carried across the street, wrecking two dwellings. Ralph Bills occupied one of the houses. The hallway of his home was jammed with the flying timbers and his sister, Hattie, who was in the front room, escaped injury.

The Lamb block, at Winters and Sandusky streets, was unroofed, as the Templar hall on Sandusky street, the rear wall of the latter building falling in. The roof of a building on west Winters street was hurled into the front of the Caldwallader millinery store completely demolishing it. Debris was piled in front of the Caldwallader store for a height of twenty feet.

Delaware in Darkness.

The Bauereis shoe store was demolished by the Templar hall roof and plate glass windows all along Sandusky street were smashed into smithereens. The tops were twisted off telephone and telegraph poles. In many places Delaware streets were a network of wires and debris.

Delaware was plunged into total darkness and word Monday was to the effect that it would be several days before the electric light service could be restored.

The Zion African church, located in the southern part of Delaware, was partially wrecked, but no services were being held at the time. The plant of the National Fireproofing company was badly damaged.

The terrific storm came up suddenly and was accompanied by a rain which flooded the streets Three and one-half inches fell in twenty-minutes

The storm-clouds, coming from opposite directions, northwest and southwest, appeared to meet over the Classical City and then descend with a velocity of sixty miles an hour, sweeping everything in the mighty vortex of wind, rain and lightning.

A Curious Feature.

A curious feature of the storm is that nobody was seriously injured. Mrs. Sarah Miller, seventy-four years old, is reported to have died from heart trouble, caused by fright, but there is some doubt as to whether the attack was superinduced by the storm.

The shanty home of "Spot" Quinn, east of the city was blown from its foundation and rolled down into a ravine.

In the country, west, south and east of Delaware, much damage has been done. The damage north of there was slight, the storm spending its force mainly at Delaware and south of there.

The same storm struck the western part of Union county, doing property damage amounting to thousand of dollars. It covered an area of about one mile, taking nearly everything in its path. Three large barns, a granary and other buildings owned by Samuel Westlake were razed, and large timbers were carried a quarter of a mile. Westlake estimates his loss at about $10,000. A fertilizer plant owned by J. H. Trimby, and a house and barn owned by Jacob White were destroyed. Great damage was done to orchards. Several cattle and horses are reported killed in that section.

LAMMERS MAY STILL BE IN LAND OF LIVING

Much Mystery Surrounds Story of Supposed Tragedy.

ALASKA TOWNS KNOW NOTHING OF ACCIDENT

Mrs. A. M. Hutchinson Is Mystified by Stories in Circulation as to Brother's Death and Fortune Left to Relatives—A Tacoma Special Covering the Story.

The reported death of J. Franklin Lammers, brother of Mrs. A. M. Hutchinson, in an Alaskan snowslide, may have been a hoax, according to a special despatch from Tacoma, Washington, to Sunday's Cincinnati Enquirer. When asked if it had ever occurred to her that her brother might not be dead, Mrs. Hutchinson said that she had read the Enquirer story. "It's all a mystery," she said . "As soon as I find out anything definite, I'll let you know This is newspaper talk."

Following is the Tacoma special despatch:

Coming into spotlight by his thrilling story of the death of J. Franklin Lammers, who, he declared, met death in a snow slide, in Alaska and whose heirs he was seeking that they might claim a fortune of $500,000, T. M. Cartwright, now is known to bear such striking resemblance to Lammers that several persons who have investigated believe Cartwright is the missing man himself.

The belief is substantiated by close investigations of several newspaper men who have examined a photograph of Lammers given to them by his wife, who is a nurse at Ft. Steilacoom asylum. This photograph depicts Cartwright feature for feature.

Two weeks ago a man calling himself Cartwright arrived in Tacoma, told of the alleged death of Lammers, and said he was seeking relatives who might claim Lammers' fortune.

Mrs. Lammers went from Steilacoom to Seattle seeking Cartwright after he left Tacoma. Papers announced he was at a certain hotel there, but Cartwright, without going near her, started for Buffalo and Cincinnati still seeking heirs.

Lammers throughout the eastern states are wiring and writing for information. Mrs. Lammers has returned to her position. She says Lammers owned oil property at Bakersfield. Mrs. Frank Weir says Lammers came from Los Angeles and San Francisco on the steamship city of Puebla, arriving here May 31. Puebla's passenger list contained J. F. Lammers' name.

Mrs. Lammers married Lammers in May last year at Butte after short acquaintance.

The last heard from Cartwright he was at Cincinnati last Saturday, where he inquired for relatives of Lammers.

Buffalo newspapers have inquired this week regarding Cartwright, and E. R. Lammers, of 454 Elliot square, Buffalo, brother of J. Frank Lammers, telegraphed yesterday for information of Cartwright's whereabouts, as he seeks confirmation of his brother's reported death. Cartwright left no addresses. Cordova and other Alaska towns know nothing of the snowslide alleged by Cartwright to have killed Lammers and McCarty, his alleged companion.

Wrecked By Storm.

A business block owned by John Bindley, of this city, at Blanchester, Vinton county, was partially wrecked in a big storm which swept that section, Sunday. E. H. Bindley started for Blanchester over the C., D. & M. and was caught in the country between Delaware and Worthington. He arrived at Blanchester Monday.

Gus Sun's minstrels, who have appeared in the city in the past and never failed to make a hit with the patrons of the Sun vaudeville theater are occupying the boards at the little playhouse this week. Features of the bill are Tom Powell, the Victoria Singing five and the Britton Musical trio.

THE PRESIDENT USES HIS VETO

And Leaves Army Without an Appropriation.

TAFT CRITICIZES ARMY MEASURE

Insists on a Simpler Piece of Legislation.

President's Veto of Army Appropriation Bill Prevents Major General Wood from Being Ousted as Chief of Staff After March 4, 1913. Why Taft Vetoes the Measure Is Explained.

Washington, June 17.—The president vetoed the army appropriation bill today.

In his message sent to congress with his veto, the president criticized the appended legislation in the bill reorganizing the army and causing changes which he held should be done by independent legislation and not included in the bill appropriating for the army.

The president declares that it has been repeatedly been pointed out by him that the practice of attaching legislative riders to appropriation bills is dangerous.

The veto leaves the army without an appropriation for its maintenance for the next fiscal year, unless congress hurries through a simple appropriation measure. It also saves General Wood from being ousted from his office as chief of staff after March 4, 1913, and prevents the reorganization of the army as provided in the bill.

COLONEL BRYAN WARMLY GREETED

By Delegates to Convention and the Lobby Loiterers.

Chicago, June 17. — William Jennings Bryan was a center of attraction in the preconvention scene, Sunday, and, though appearing at the headquarters of leaders of a rival party as a newspaper reporter, was given a demonstration by the throng of visitors and delegates.

Mr. Bryan had a personal chat with Theodore Roosevelt late in the day, after he had interviewed Senator Dixon, the Roosevelt campaign director, and Managing Director McKinley, of the Taft bureau.

As he entered the hotel lobby, elbowing his way through the crowd, someone shouted, "Hurrah for Bryan," and the Nebraskan was given a demonstrative welcome. He was cheered for several minutes and continuous cries of "Speech, speech" came from all parts of the lobby. Mr. Bryan waved a hand to the crowd and remarked to those near him that he had come "merely as a newspaper reporter" and not seeking presidential nominaton from a Republican convention.

"I came to see your steam roller," said Mr. Bryan as he shook hands with Congressman McKinley. "Is it anywhere in sight?"

"No, we have laid it aside," said Mr. McKinley, "but would be glad to lend it to you if you would like to have it at Baltimore."

"Oh, no. We Democrats do not need it," Mr. Bryan laughingly responded. "We are going to hold a model convention."

A third boy, shot far out from the boat as it was flung over the falls, escaped the deadly grip of the undertow and was saved.

Jesse Layton, eighteen, and Clarence Wark, twenty, were the victims. Joseph Layton, sixteen, brother of Jesse, was rescued. They lived near Leavittsburg, a village three miles from here.

FINAL DECISION AS TO THE GRANDSTAND

Inspector Wilcke Says the Stand Is Not Safe.

CAN NOT BE REPAIRED FOR TEMPORARY USE

State Inspector Says the Use of Grandstand Will Not Be Permitted If It Is Repaired—Agricultural Society Unable To Build New Stand Now.

That the fairground will lack sufficient grandstand accommodations at the coming county fair, was definitely determined, Friday afternoon, when Carl Wilcke, deputy state building inspector for this district, visited the city. In company with Henry Raub, Samuel Martin, Jacob Thibaut, Charles Miller and Roscoe Oborn, who compose the executive board of the agricultural society, Inspector Wilke visited the fairground, Friday afternoon, and made an inspection of the grandstand.

An inspection of the grandstand was made in April, at which time it was condemned by Inspector Wilcke. The board's object in having the inspector return was to see if the stand could not be repaired to be used a couple of years. The inspector showed the executive board members, Friday, that some of the sills were loose from the fastenings, and a few were decayed to such an extent that the grandstand could not be repaired to be made absolutely safe. Inspector Wilcke informed the members of the board that the use of the stand would not be permitted if it was repaired.

After thoroughly inspecting the stand Mr. Wilcke stated that about sixty feet of the south end, which was lately constructed, could be left standing for use, but that the north end, with the exception of the lower seats not under cover, would have to be torn down. An order was also issued to the board against any cooking under the stand, or the keeping of any explosives under or in the stand. In past years, the German M. E. church has been conducing a restaurant and serving hot lunch under the stand. This wil be eliminated this year.

As the agriculture society is without funds, the construction of a new stand will have to be put off. The north end of the old stand will be sold to the highest bidder, bids to be received up to one week from today at noon. The south end of the stand will be fixed with an entrance to accommodate as many people as possible, while it is the intention to erect bleacher seats and cover them with canvas.

MRS. JOHN F. UHLER DIES IN WASHINGTON

Death Comes as the Result of Illness of Weeks.

FUNERAL SERVICES WERE HELD SUNDAY

Mrs. Uhler Is a Gifted Woman—She Forms Friendships and Holds Them to the End—Mrs. Uhler Is a Resident of Marion Much of Her Life—Burial in Arlington.

Hannah Louise, widow of the late John F. Uhler, died at her apartments in the New Berne, city of Washington, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, as a result of a general breakdown, from which she had suffered for the past six or seven weeks. During her illness, she had received the loving care and attention of her nieces, Miss Jessie Pettit, who resided with her, and Miss Sada Hume, of this city.

The funeral service was held at the home, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and burial followed in beautiful Arlington cemetery, where the remains will rest beside those of her late husband.

Mrs. Uhler will be remembered by the older residents of Marion as a bright and gifted woman. She was born in this city in March, 1843, and spent her girlhood days in Marion. A beautiful girl, of brilliant mental gifts, she was a belle of the then village. May 3, 1866, she was married to John F. Uhler, whose death occurred March 6, 1909, as a result of exposure suffered in viewing the Taft inaugural parade during the great storm of March 4, of that year. Mr. Uhler was connected with the banking business in this city, and later engaged in the same business in the city of Akron. He and his wife returned to this city, where he engaged in the merchant tailoring business. They then returned to Akron, and some time thereafter went to Washington, where Mr. Uhler held a position in the government pension office at the time of his death.

It had been Mrs. Uhler's wish to be buried in this city, but at the time of her husband's death, when it had been arranged that he should sleep with his fellow-soldier dead in Arlington, arrangements were made that she should be buried at his side.

Mrs. Uhler, in addition to being a clever writer, whose offering found place in newspapers and magazines of worth, took an unusually active interest in temperance work, to which she devoted much of her time during the later years of her life. Bright, clever, witty—she made many acquaintances and many firm friends, who will be grieved to learn of her passing.

MISS LUCILE NELSON TO BE MARRIED SOON

Will Wed Mr. Hugh Gibson, Who Resides in India.

The many friends in this city of Miss Lucile Nelson will be pleased to learn that she is to be married this summer to Mr. Hugh Gibson, an Englishman, in the service of the English government in India.

The marriage will be the culmination of a romance, which had its beginning during Miss Nelson's recent trip abroad, when she attended the India durbar in company with friends from Detroit.

Mr. Gibson's uncle, an English bishop, will perform the marriage ceremony, but Miss Nelson has not announced as yet whether the wedding will take place in England or in this country. She will arrive home, Sunday, from Hillsdale, Michigan, where she has been a successful teacher in domestic science at the Hillsdale college for several years.

Miss Nelson is a granddaughter of Mrs. M. Nelson, of south Main street, and a niece of D. C. and J. W. Nelson.

THE ONLY WAY

Many Marion Citizens Have Discovered it.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected, is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they have cured thousands of cases of sick kidneys and cured them permanently. Follow the example of this Marion citizen.

Mrs. Edward Watts, 456 Owen St. Marion, Ohio, says: "I know Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine kidney medicine. I have used them with the very best of results. Whenever my back has troubled me or I thought my kidneys were not acting right, I have always looked to Doan's Kidney Pills for the removal of the trouble. They always have my highest endorsement, as they live up to the claims made for them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

JUDGE DONNELLY IS TO HAVE OPPOSITION

Bellefontaine Attorney Will Make the Race Against Him.

Attorney Emanuel J. Howenstine, of Bellefontaine, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for circuit judge in the Third judicial circuit.

Announcement that he has decided to enter the race for this honor was made Thursday, and the Logan county friends of Mr. Howenstine, as well as those throughout the district, will be pleased over the declaration. He possesses ability, skill, dignity, is just and fair, and would grace the bench to the full satisfaction of the people of the district and at the same time bring distinction to Logan county.

The district is normally Democratic but the election is now made on a non-partisan ballot and the voters have opportunity to pick the man they desire without any political party having an advantage in the matter.

There are sixteen counties in the district, Allen, Auglaize, Crawford, Defiance, Hancock, Hardin, Henry, Logan, Marion, Mercer, Paulding, Putnam, Seneca, Union, Van Wert and Wyandot.

The Democrats have already nominated Judge Michael Donnelly, of Napoleon, for a second term.

No call has as yet been issued for the Republican convention but when it is held Logan county will present a strong request for the nomination for Mr. Howenstine.—Bellefontaine Examiner.

NEW TAXING DISTRICT IS TO BE CREATED

Official Action May Be Expected in Short Time.

A new taxing district is to be officially created out of the Marlboro school district, a part of which lies in Waldo township, Marion county, and a part in Marlboro township, Union county. The Marlboro school district land was ceded for school purposes sixty years ago, but a taxing district has never been created, and in order to procure the taxes from the Marion county portion of the district, the Marlboro township school authorities are planning to make it a taxing district, after a lapse of more than half a century.

A. E. Main, clerk of the Marlboro township school board, was here to see County Auditor Jay Spaulding with reference to the proposed new district Friday. A map will be made and the Waldo township school board will be expected to adopt a resolution endorsing the new district, which will be known as the Marlboro district. It lies south of Waldo and takes in the old Fort Morrow site and adjacent territory.

GROVER C. HOLLIS TO BE GIVEN HIS LIBERTY

Proves a Model Prisoner and Is Unfortunate.

Grover Cleveland Hollis, who was sentenced to the Ohio reformatory near Mansfield, June 1, 1910, for stealing a horse and buggy, will be released from that institution, Thursday, August 1, according to information received by the local authorities. The board of pardons, which met in Mansfield, Wednesday, acted upon Hollis' application for a parole. He is said to have been a model prisoner.

At the time he was sentenced Hollis was nineteen years old. He excited the sympathy of the court and court attaches by his story, which was verified by the prosecuting attorney. Hollis was an orphan and came here from Indiana. He said that he had lived from "hand to mouth" so long that he took the rig in desperation. He had never been in trouble before.

UNION OF SOCIETIES COMPLETED TUESDAY

Marion and Bellefontaine Join Hands in Work.

MANY TOWNS ARE INCLUDED IN CHANGE

A Meeting of the Missionary Workers Is Held at the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday—Officers Elected To Serve During the Ensuing Year.

The union of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Marion and Bellefontaine Presbyteries was consumated at a largely-attended meeting held in the First Presbyterian church, Tuesday. The following towns of the Presbyteries were represented:

Bellefontaine—Belle Center, Bellefontaine, Bluffton, Bucyrus, Crestline, DeGraff, Galion, Huntsville, Marseilles, Rushsylvania, Springhill, Upper Sandusky, Urbana, West Liberty and Dolta.

Marion—Ashley, Berlin, Brown, Cardington, Chesterville, Delaware, Iberia, La Rue, Liberty, Marion, Marysville, Mt Gilead, Milford Center, Ostrander, Prospect, Richwood, Radnor, Kenton and Westbrook.

The pulpit was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers and ferns, and the auditorium was well filled with women. A number of men were also in attendance.

The meeting was opened shortly after 10.30 o'clock and was called to order by Mrs. W. C. Butcher, Ohio synodical president of the Foreign Missionary society. The audience sang a number of hymns and Mrs. W. N. Harder sang the solo parts. Mrs. S. E. Barlow, presbyterial president of the Marion Presbytery, conducted the devotional services, and after another hymn several short prayers were given.

Greetings Are Given.

Mrs. Jonas Concklin, gave greetings from the Marion societies and thanked the visiting societies for their able response to the invitation extended them to join the Marion Presbytery. She said that she hoped the joining of these two Presbyteries would bring the members into closer relationship, and make them better fitted to carry on the great work before them. She spoke of the sacrifice the Bellefontaine Presbytery had made in joining with the Marion Presbytery, but that she knew they were glad and willing to do it for the sake of what could be accomplished in the future.

Miss Della Gibson, of Bucyrus, representing the Bellefontaine Presbytery, then arose and responded in a few well-chosen words. She expressed the appreciation of the visitors, and said that they were willing to unite with the Marion district. She said:

"We believe that in union is greater strength for the Master and we heartily assure you of our acceptance. Faith, prayer and loyal service will make us a mighty power for service in our united efforts."

Officers Are Elected.

Mrs. R. E. Hills, of Delaware, the secretary, then called the roll, after which the report of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. J. C. Hanna, Mrs. E. C. Scarf, Mrs. J. C. Martin, Mrs. W. A. Ferguson, Mrs. Erb and Mrs. William A. Atkinson, was read and approved. The following officers were elected:

Home Society—Mrs. Robert F. Smith of Cardington, president; Mrs. W. C. Case, of Mt. Gilead, vice president; Mrs. M. W. Battenfield, of Delaware, recording secretary; Mrs. William McRobert, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. L. Sellers, of Marysville, young people's secretary; Mrs. J. S. VanMeter, treasurer; Mrs. S. E. DeWolfe, of Marion, secretary of literature, Mrs. S. B. Conyers, of Urbana secretary of Freedman'd aid.

Foreign Society—Mrs. U. S. Bartz, of Kenton, president; Mrs. E. C. Scarff of Bellefontaine, vice president, Mrs. W. E. Harris, of DeGraff, recording secretary; Miss Della Gibson, of Bucyrus, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. C. Martin, of Belle Center, young people's secretary, Mrs. Lutrelle Henderson, of Marysville treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Hanna, of Forest, secretary of literature, Mrs. W. N. Harder, of Marion, secretary of the mission study class.

The following honorary vice presidents were chosen on account of their long years and efficient service in the missionary work.

Mrs. A. W. Hawn, of Delaware; Mrs. Alvin Thompson, of Marysville; Mrs. Margaret Riddle, of Bellefontaine, and Mrs. Wood. Mrs. Riddle and Mrs. Wood were charter members of the Bellefontaine district, while Mrs. Hawn and Mrs. Thompson are members of the Marion district.

Mrs. J. L. Tait Talks.

Mrs. John Ewalt of Loveland, gave a few remarks and introduced the speaker of the morning, Mrs. J. L. Tait of Columbus. Mrs. Tait spoke at length on the welfare of the societies in their union. She spoke of marriage meaning the safeguarding of the home and said that in the uniting of these two Presbyteries in marriage it meant the safeguarding of the societies. She said:

Remember we are banded together to do still larger work and establish homes. We are reaching out our hands to the utmost parts of the world, and our combined efforts are needed in this work for the Master. As in married life you must exercise patient forebearance, so you must do in this work. We are banded together to do some of the greatest things ever done by women."

The session closed with a prayer of consecration by Mrs. N. T. Houston, of Urbana. Adjournment was then made for luncheon, which was served in the basement. After the luncheon, the executive committee met.

Tuesday Afternoon Session.

A big audience of interested women of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the now united Marion and Bellefontaine Presbyteries gathered for the Tuesday afternoon session of the conference held for the consummation of the union of the two societies at the First Presbyterian church. A great deal of profit was gained by the ladies, the discussions of the afternoon being close in line with the mission work.

Mrs. J. L. Tait, of Columbus, was in charge and the first number on the program was a violin solo by Miss Clara Leffler. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. W. L. Case, of Mt. Gilead. After prayer by Miss Wilhelm, of Ashville, North Carolina, Miss Sarah Chapin, a mission worker on the Nebraska and Oklahoma Indian reservations, gave a very brief, but excellent talk. She aroused the interest of her hearers early in her talk and was paid very close attention. She spoke of her work in the homes, declared that tuberculosis was making great headway there, and that it was necessary to do diligent work in order to check it. The calls to wait on the sick are many.

Interest in Bible.

"The interest in the Bible is greater than is generally supposed," she said. "The people are nearly always ready to listen to a Bible reading and to hold prayer. The Indians are in the midst of civilization, but unfortunately in the midst of one that is tending downward. The Christian people must be awake and keep the people in touch with Christianity. The inroads of evil there are startling. The conditions are worse than they are in California and Arizona. The Christian people here should pray, not for the Indians who are far away from humanity, but those who are among the people and who are leading them downward."

The presentation of the constitution, which was to have been made during the afternoon was postponed as there was need for more time. This will be presented to the executive committee which will in turn present the new constitution at the next annual meeting to be held at Galion in April. A meeting of the executive committee was held immediately following the meeting.

Workers' Conference.

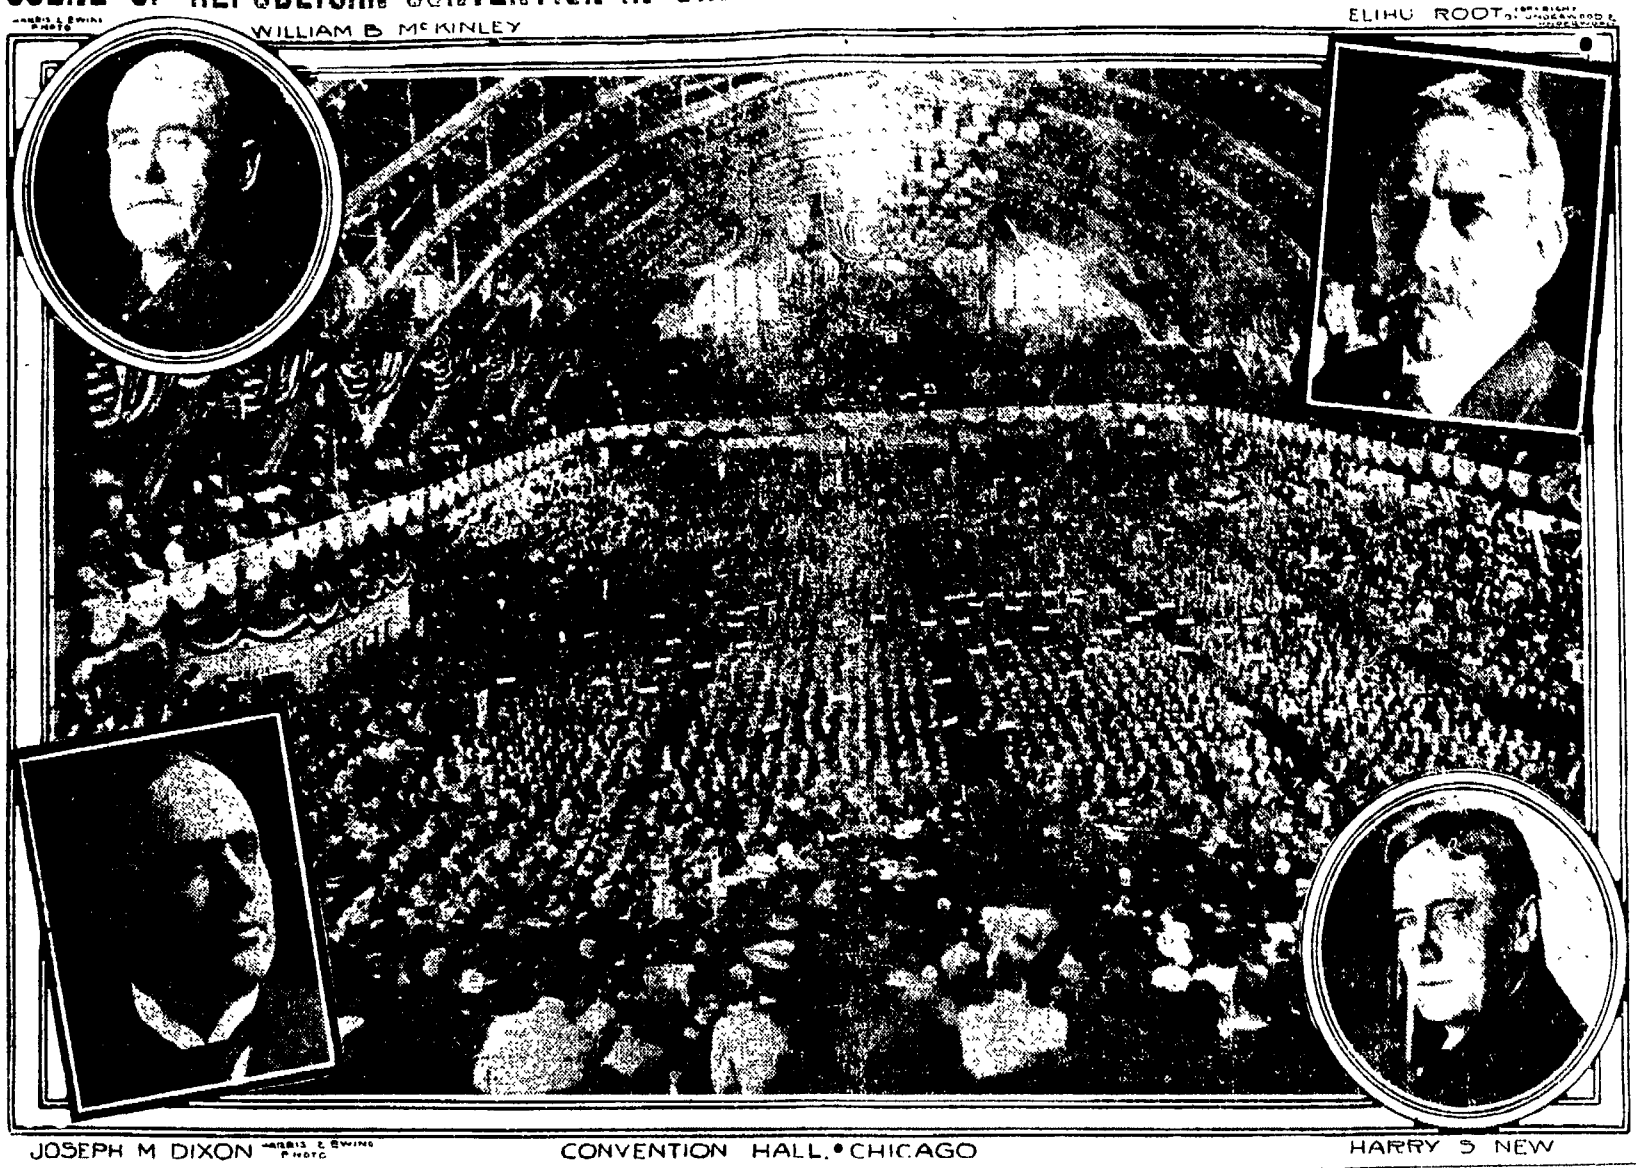
A splendid workers' conference was held during the afternoon, under the leadership of Mrs. W. E. Lewis, of Cincinnati. A great many topics were taken up and discussed thoroughly. The first topic taken up was "Why is the Membership of the Missionary Society Small in Proportion to the Women Church Members." The ladies present engaged in the discussion and as a whole it proved of great value.

Mrs. W. N. Harder contributed a solo being accompanied on the organ by Miss Grace Seifner.

The closing hour of prayer was conducted by Mrs. John Ewalt, of Loveland, who spoke interestingly, and then called on Rev. W. A. Ferguson, pastor of the Lee Street Presbyterian church, who offered the closing prayer and benediction.

Supper was served at the church at 5 o'clock for a large number of the ladies.

SCENE OF REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN CHICAGO AND SOME OF PROMINENT FIGURES IN CHARGE



THE SUPREME COURT GIVES ITS DECISION

Payment of Money Is Declared Against Law.

MONEY IS PAID FOR WORK OF APPRAISERS

The Outcome of a Suit as to Action of Former County Auditor Charles L. Allen Is Watched with Great Interest by the Local Taxing Officials.

By a decision of the supreme court, Tuesday, the payment of money made by former County Auditor Charles L. Allen to the Manufacturers' Appraisal company, of Cleveland, in 1910, for work performed under its contract with the quadrennial board of assessors for the appraisement of Marion realty, was illegal.

The decision of the Franklin county circuit court, that actual view and separate appraisement of property for taxation could not be dispensed with and that the quadrennial board could not engage a corporation located elsewhere to assist in its work, was affirmed by the state's highest tribunal.

The Manufacturers' Appraisal company made use of the Somers unit system in appraising Marion business property.

An examination of the county auditor's record, Wednesday disclosed that two payments for work performed for the quadrennial board were made.

The first payment was for $360, May 2, 1910, and the second payment was for $559, June 4, 1910.

In Franklin county, Auditor Sayre refused to pay the Cleveland company's claim for $8,000 on the ground that it was illegal and the matter was carried into the courts.

The outcome of the court's action has been watched by the local taxing officials with great interest.

CURE FOR HICCOUGHS FOUND IN ELECTRICITY

The Experience of a Workman in Shops at Ampere.

An employe of the Crocker-Wheeler company at Ampere, New Jersey, was recently seized with an attack of hiccoughs. Various remedies were suggested, but none were of any avail. The attack had lasted for several hours before it became necessary for him to stop work and go home. At the expiration of that time he was completely exhausted by the continued spasmodic contractions in his throat. Each renewal of the attack seemed to "fairly tear his insides" as he expressed it. The works at Ampere cover twenty-five acres, and the employes had to walk through several of the big shops. So exhausted was he that when a fresh attack seized him, he staggered and almost fell. He put out one hand to steady himself, and the next instant he straightened out rigidly. His hand had come in contact with a generator carrying a current of 250 volts. After the lightning swift withdrawal of his hand, and a startled gasp, the man turned quietly and went back to his work. He was cured of the hiccoughs, but was heard to state later that he thought the disease almost preferable to the drastic cure.

MUST BE ADMITTED TO THE FEDERAL COURT

An Order Received by Referee in Bankruptcy.

Hereafter, according to an order received from the United States court by Referee-in-Bankruptcy Hoke W. Donithen, no person shall be permitted to practice in the federal court or before any referee-in-bankruptcy, as an attorney, or to begin, conduct or defend any action or proceeding in which he is not an actual party concerned, either by using or subscribing his own name or the name of any other person, unless he has been previously admitted to the federal bar.

The ruling will affect several Marion attorneys, as it requires all lawyers who desire to conduct a case in bankruptcy to be admitted to the bar of the United States court. An attorney's fee is allowed out of the estate for filing a voluntary or involuntary petition-in-bankruptcy, but in the future this fee can be allowed only to those admitted to practice in the federal courts. An attorney not admitted, however, is permitted to file a petition-in-bankruptcy for his client, but he can not represent him in court or before a referee until he is admitted.

TWO MURDERERS GO TO END IN CHAIR

Are Electrocuted in Auburn State Prison Tuesday Morning.

Auburn, N. Y., June 18.—Two "gunmen," Ralph Friedman and Jacob Kuhn, who murdered George A. Schuchart, a grocer, in Rochester, New York, while robbing his store November 10, 1910, were put to death in the electric chair in the Auburn state prison today. Friedman was executed first. He took his place in the chair at 6:07 and was dead in seven minutes.

Kuhn smiled when he took his seat and interrupted a prayer to call out, "Good-by, fathers." He was strapped in the chair at 6:17 and was dead eight minutes afterward.

FINISHING THE LITTLE SCIOTO RIVER WORK

Timothy Foohey Company Completing Big Task.

TRIMMING UP SPOTS ALONG THE CHANNEL

Farmers Along the Stream Say the Work Saves Many Acres of Corn During the Recent Heavy Rains. The Little Scioto Remains Within Its Banks.

The work of straightening, widening and deepening the Little Scioto river has been almost completed by the Timothy Foohey Dredging company, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and the next step will be the acceptance of the improvement by County Surveyor George E. Dwyer.

The big steam dredging outfit has now finished the work down the channel into the Big Scioto river near Green Camp, and is now working back making the finishing touches of the stupendous job.

Farmers residing along the river's banks are informing the county commissioners that the improved channel saved many acres of corn during the recent heavy rains. Ordinarily, they say, the fields would have been inundated for miles.

The Little Scioto was not even sent out of its banks by the heavy rains of Saturday night and Sunday, while the Big Scioto river is away out of its banks, flooding many acres.

On the William Guthery place, southwest of the city, twenty-five acres of corn were completely under water and the damage done to other farmers' crops along the stream has been enormous.

Although the Little Scioto has been cut through to the Big Scioto river, it will be some time before all the work is completed, as it will be necessary to back the dredge up the stream for several miles to make additional cuts in the channel.

Engineer Dwyer will be in no hurry about accepting the improvement from the hands of the contractors. The work was to have been completed several months ago, but the time was indefinitely extended by the commissioners on acount of the delay occasioned the contractors by the county and the railroads in removing the bridges over the stream.

G. W. Haines Is Hurt.

G. W. Haines, a laborer in the separator department of the Huber shops, suffered a painful injury, Tuesday at 9 o'clock, while at work. Mr. Haines was working in wood, when a piece of it caught in a rip-saw near him. The piece was projected with great force from the saw, and struck Haines on the wrist, cutting and bruising it badly. He was given prompt surgical attention.

Seeking Lost Relatives.

The Cincinnati Enquirer makes reference to a letter being received by the chief of police of that place, asking that James Hancock be located there and informed that his mother is dying. Hancock disappeared from Cleveland about four years ago. The letter was written by a brother of Hancock, who lives in this city, and to receive better attention was signed by Chief McDonough.

Almost any fool can distinguish between vice and virtue, but it takes a wise man to act according to his understanding.

THE COMMITTEE IS MUCH ENCOURAGED

Believe the "Home Coming" Week Will Be Success.

The emphatic statement of the general arrangements committee, in charge of the plans for the street carnival and "home-coming" week, July 1 to 6, that no immoral amusements will be permitted, has met with public approbation.

Members of the committee say they are well pleased with the manner in which the citizens are showing an interest in the affair, and declare that they will not be disappointed. Business and professional men are lending the committee every aid and the promoters feel greatly encouraged.

Surrounding towns are showing considerable interest in the week's festivities and the indications are that the attendance will be unusually large.

Sunday afternoon and evening, June 30, a program of speaking and music will be rendered at Garfield park. A band will be engaged for this occasion.

The carnival will be held on Prospect street between Mill and Church streets.

MUSKRAT DITCH WILL BE IMPROVED

County Commissioners Grant the Petition.

Tuesday afternoon, the county commissioners granted the petition for converting the Muskrat ditch into an open one, and for extending it. The final hearing will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, July 11. The ditch now contains nearly two miles of tile, the size of which runs from fifteen to twenty-two inches. The cost of reopening the ditch and making it open, and further extending it up in Scott township, to get a greater fall, will cost many thousands of dollars.

The ditch, as petitioned for, will begin in Scott township and empty into the Whetstone river, in Claridon township, and will be over two miles long.

CONSENT IS GIVEN BY COMMISSIONERS

Plan To Keep Down the Dust of the Streets.

Wednesday, Receiver George Whysall, of the Columbus, Marion & Bucyrus Railway company, appeared before the county commissioners and gained their consent to tar-sprinkling Main street from the paving on Fairground street to the corporation line, a distance of half a mile. The railway company will bear its share of the expense of the tar-sprinkling, two coats of which are expected to allay the dust for this summer and next summer.

"With the street cars and the automobiles the dust on this stretch of road has been almost intolerable," said Receiver Whysall.

The cost of the improvement will be from $200 to $300.

The Explosion Is Caused by a "Windy Shot."

A Number of Bodies Are Located, But Can Not Be Removed on Account of the Clogged-Up Entrance. No Hope Is Entertained That Any of Men Will Be Found Alive. Story of Horror.

Denver, Colo., June 19.—Thirteen miners were entombed and believed to have been killed in the Hastings coal mine at Hastings, fifteen miles north of Trinidad, as the result of an explosion of gas early today.

One badly injured miner was rescued. The explosion was caused by a "windy shot."

The mine is owned by the Victor-American Fuel company.

Rescue gangs were summoned from surrounding mines.

There is no fire in the wrecked workings, according to the officials of the mines.

A number of bodies have already been located, but can not be removed on account of the clogged-up entrance. No hope is entertained that any of the men who were caught by the explosion are alive.

Thirteen coffins have been ordered from Trinidad.

George Papas was the miner rescued badly injured.

JUDGMENT IS ASKED ON PROMISSORY NOTE

John C. Dalk Sues Charles G. Avers and Others.

AMENDED ANSWER OF JENNIE P. EBERT

Asks That She Be Allowed Money in Lieu of Dower Out of the Proceeds of the Sale of Property. Edward Leach Secures a Temporary Injunction.

A suit to recover judgment on a promissory note for $128, with six per cent. interest from May 12, 1912, was begun in the court of common pleas by John C. Dalk against Charles G. Avers and others, Wednesday. John L. Avers and the First National bank, of Ellmore, are made party defendants because they claim some interest in the chattel property, consisting of oil well drilling tools, given to secure the note. Mouser & Moloney filed the petition.

Waiving assignment of dower by metes and bounds and asking that the real estate be sold free of her dower, Jennie P. Ebert, defendant in a partition suit brought by Bertha Priester, guardian of Florence Priester, against Jane Priester, widow of John C. Priester, and others, Wednesday, through Attorney Charles L. Justice, filed an amendment to her previous answer. She prays that she be allowed, in lieu of dower, such a sum of money out of the proceeds on the property's sale as the court may deem the just value of her dower.

Praying for a temporary injunction against the village of Green Camp to prevent the construction of sidewalks on the east side of High street, between Mill and Water streets, Edward Leach, a taxpayer, through Carhart & Warner, filed a petition in the court of common pleas, Wednesday. Leach says the stakes for the improvement were changed contrary to the village council's resolution and contrary to the established grade as fixed by Engineer George E. Dwyer, of Marion.

Judge William E. Scofield allowed a temporary restraining order to lie against the village upon the furnishing of $100 bond.

To Extend the Time.

County Treasurer Robert S. Donbaugh has requested the county commissioners to extend the time of payment of taxes from June 20 to July 20, as has been customary in the past. When asked if the time had been extended, the commissioners said that it had not been, but would be if the treasurer found that he could not collect the taxes by June 20.

A Commencement.

The Boxwell commencement of this county will be held at the Brush Ridge Baptist church, Thursday, June 27. The speaker of the evening will be Rev. Walter A. King, of the Trinity Baptist church. Miss Carmen Blow will sing and McNeal's orchestra will play.

Is Much Improved.

Word was received, Wednesday, from Pearl Mears, who was called to Fullerton, California, last week by the serious illness of his father, Robert Mears, stating that his father is much better.

SCHWARTZ CLOTHING STORE BURGLARIZED

Entrance Is Gained Through an Alley Window.

USE OF A SMALL BOY IN ENTERING STORE

The Thieves Make a Big Haul and Get Away Safely—Cash Register Is Touched for $11—George Blum Registers a Complaint as to Automobile Drivers.

The clothing store of L. Schwartz, on south Main street, was broken into, Monday night, and a big haul was made by the burglars. Entrance to the store was made by raising one of the alley windows. The windows on the inside have iron bars over them, the space between the bars being but seven and a half inches.

It is believed that a small boy was used to go between the bars and unbolt the rear door of the store. The window latch was not broken, which leads to the opinion that the window had not been securely locked. The burglary was discovered when the proprietor opened the place, shortly after 6 o'clock Tuesday morning, and found a number of suit hangers on the floor. On further investigation, he found the back door unlocked and that the place had been burglarized.

The cash register was touched for $11 in change, two dollars in pennies either being overlooked or not wanted. The desk was rifled, but nothing of value was found. Six suits of clothes, seven raincoats, a large number of pairs of trousers, and some boys' suits are missing. The burglary was reported to the police as soon as discovered, but no clue was found that might lead to the arrest of the guilty parties.

Street Superintendent George Blum was one of the early callers at the office of Chief McDonough, Tuesday, to register a complaint. Blum asked the chief if there was not a law to make automobile drivers blow their horns as a warning to drivers in front of them. The street superintendent said, "Four times I might just as well been killed because drivers of automobiles failed to blow their horns." He cited a few of the instances and asked the chief to see that the automobile owners sound a warning.

Monday afternoon, Officers Cusick and Thompson arrested Charles Van Riper, who was wanted at Kenton on a charge of stealing a horse and wagon. The local police received a communication, Saturday evening, asking that Van Riper be arrested if located here. Van Riper purchased a horse and spring wagon from a man in Kenton, making a part payment on the outfit and giving a chattel mortgage for the balance. The man bought the outfit to buy junk in Hardin county, but when it was learned that he was trying to dispose of the outfit in Marion, his arrest was ordered. An officer came over from Kenton, Tuesday and took Van Riper back to that place.

NORTON POSTOFFICE IS ABOLISHED MONDAY

One of the Oldest Towns in Ohio Without Office.

The postoffice at Norton is a thing of the past. Norton is located about midway between Marion and Delaware, just over the line in Delaware county, and has a population of about 100. It is one of the oldest towns in Ohio, and in the early days mail was brought to the place by stage, then finally by railroad. Now it is to be brought by rural carrier delivery, recent orders having removed the postoffice, the equipment of which was sent to Delaware. In the future rural delivery routes out of Delaware and Waldo, the last named place being only a mile north of Norton, will carry mail matter to the Norton villagers. The postoffice, presided over by James M. Stratton, was abolished Monday.

ORIN B. GAST IS GIVEN A DECREE OF DIVORCE

Mrs. Gast Awarded Alimony in Sum of $2,650.

SUIT NOT CONTESTED WHEN IT IS HEARD

Meta K. Gast Is Awarded Alimony in Her Suit Against Neil J. Gast. Mrs. Orville Southard Is Given a Decree of Divorce—Mrs. George F. Camm Wants a Divorce.

Orin B. Gast, of Prospect township, was granted a decree of divorce from Harriet Gast and the latter was awarded alimony in the sum of $2,650, as per agreement, by Judge William E. Scofield, Monday afternoon.

December 30, 1911, the wife began an alimony proceeding in the court of common pleas. She charged her husband with cruelty, and in January, 1912, the husband filed an answer and cross-petition. He denied his wife's charges of cruelty, and asked for a divorce on the ground of gross neglect of duty. When the case was heard the wife did not contest her husband's effort to obtain a divorce decree, the question of alimony having been decided out of court. Upon the evidence adduced, Judge Scofield found her guilty of gross neglect of duty as charged by the husband, and said the defendant was entitled to a decree "on account thereof." Each party to the suit was barred of all interest in each other's real estate. The husband was adjudged to pay the costs. The Gasts were married at Prospect, December 18, 1899.

In the divorce action of Meta K. Gast against Neil J. Gast, Monday afternoon, Judge Scofield awarded the plaintiff $50 alimony, payable monthly, the first payment of ten dollars being due August 1. The mother was also awarded custody of the child two afternoons of each week until the cause is heard and disposed of by the court.

Because her husband was lazy and refused to work, Eva Southard brought suit for divorce from Orville Southard and Judge Scofield, Monday afternoon, awarded her a decree and assessed the costs of the action against the husband. He did not contest. The Southards were married at Byhalia, Union county, January 22, 1896.

Charging her husband with extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty, Rena E. Camm, through Conley & Johnson, Tuesday, brought an action for a divorce from George F. Camm, in the court of common pleas. The wife says her husband frequently struck her and compelled her to earn her own livelihood. She asks for a decree of divorce and custody of their child, now aged sixteen years. The Camms were married in this city, December 9, 1893.

Tuesday in the common pleas court Mouser & Moloney, filed a motion for a new trial in the suit of William R. Kannel to regain possession of his children from his divorced wife, Lulu Kannel. Newly discovered evidence and the usual grounds of error are set up.

GRANDSTAND AT PARK BLOWN OVER

Young Lee Chapman Is Caught in Wreckage and Is Seriously Injured—Buildings Are Damaged and Trees Are Blown Down. Other Village Newslets.

Richwood, O., Jun 15.—[Special.]—The most severe wind storm Richwood ever experienced broke over the village, Friday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. The wind blew only a few minutes, but great damage was done during that time. The grandstand at Pastime park, where a number of young boys were playing ball, was blown over. Lee Chapman, the fifteen year old son of D. E. Chapman, was pinned beneath the wreckage and was seriously injured. His young companions succeeded in liberating him and he was taken to the office of Drs. Wurtsbaugh, where he was given proper attention. His right ear was partially severed from his head and he was badly cut and bruised. Simon Adams, while walking on the street, was blown against a building and his side was seriously bruised. The large plate glass window in the postoffice building was completely demolished, large pieces of glass flying across Franklin street. Lightning struck a large shade tree in front of Mrs. Margaret Mealey's residence, destroying the tree and damaging the dwelling. A large tree in front of the Brooks property, on south Franklin street, was torn up by the roots. Dr. B. P. Hall's automobile was blown across the street, the lamps were broken and the machine otherwise damaged. Hundreds of shade and fruit trees all over the village were blown down and panic reigned for some time.

The annual reunion of the Maddex family was held, Thursday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Maddex, two miles west of Richwood. Twenty-seven representatives of the family were present and the reunion proved one of the most pleasant in their history. The guests from a distance arrived at the Maddex country home Wednesday evening, remaining until Thursday night. Of a family of twelve children, all of whom were born and reared in the beautiful Shenandoah valley, in West Virginia, eleven grew to manhood and womanhood. The parents and five children are deceased and of the seven surviving, six of the brothers and sisters attended the reunion, as follows: Mrs. Rose Maddex, of Shepardstown, West Virginia; Mrs. Jennie Link, of Shenandoah Junction, West Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maddex and children, Ruil and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. John Maddex and children, Almeda, Walter and Carl of Mechanicsburg; Mr and Mrs Butler Maddex and children, Mr and Mrs Earl Maddex and Mr. and Mrs Harry Low, of Urbana; Misses Mamie Finnin, Glenna and Bessie Gault, of New Dover, and Mrs Maggie Chapman, of Richwood. The remains of Frank Davis arrived in Richwood, Friday evening, from Marietta, where he died Thursday morning at 6 o'clock. The deceased formerly lived about eight miles northwest of Richwood and was well known here. He was employed as a tank builder by the Standard Oil company and while at work on a tank, March 22, he fell and was fatally injured about the head and spine. The accident occurred in West Virginia and the young man was taken to a hospital in Marietta where he lingered nearly three months. He was thirty-three years old and single. The father of the deceased, Absalom Davis, of Kenton, came here Friday and Saturday morning the remains were taken to the M. P. church at Essex, where Rev. E. C. Woodworth conducted funeral services. CANARY RECOVERED THROUGH STAR AD

D. C. Nelson Finds Bird Through Paper's Columns.

That it pays to advertise in the Star was again demonstrated, last Saturday, when D. C. Nelson found a lost canary by advertising in the want columns of the paper. Last Wednesday, Mr. Nelson's pet canary escaped from its cage, and although it spent a couple of days in the neighborhood it could not be caught. Saturday, Mr. Nelson inserted an advertisement with a description of the bird. Scarcely had the papers been delivered when a woman residing on Forest street near Mt. Vernon avenue called up Nelson & Sons' jewelry store, and stated that a canary answering the description given in the advertisement was flying about in her yard. Master Charles Nelson went to the home and secured his pet from a cherry tree.

THE COMPENSATION OF ASSESSORS IN COUNTY

Thirty-Eight Assessors Draw Sum of $4,335.

ONE ASSESSOR NEEDS ASSISTANT IN WORK

Number Work More Days Than Salary Warrants Under the Law, but They Are Only Paid for the Prescribed Time—The Reviewers Are Now Very Busy.

Marion county's thirty-eight personal property assessors drew $4,335 for their services. Seven of the assessors drew $111 each and thirty-one were paid $114 each. The Big Island township assessor had to have an assistant on account of the large territory and this assistant received $21.

The assessors were paid three dollars a day and were allowed pay for thirty-eight days, under the law, to do their work. Many of them worked more than the number of days allotted by law, but they received pay for but thirty-eight days. Seven of the assessors completed their work, turned in their books and received pay for thirty-seven days.

The books of all the assessors are now in the hands of the board of review, which is making a careful inspection of each assessor's return. Notwithstanding that the assessors made returns that were double in many instances those of last year, the probabilities are that members of the board of review will make further increases. Such action is warranted because of the great discrepancies that exist in the returns.

The reviewers, their time cut to sixty days this year, are making rapid progress in an effort to finish their work within sixty days.

The personal property duplicate will be the largest in the history of the county and up to the expectations of the majority of the taxing officials.

County Auditor Jay Spaulding, who has already announced the assessors' figures for Marion, expects to give out the rural figures some time this week.

Mrs. J. L. Tait Talks.

Mrs John Ewalt of Loveland, gave a few remarks and introduced the speaker of the morning, Mrs. J. L. Tait, of Columbus. Mrs. Tait spoke at length on the welfare of the societies in their union. She spoke of marriage meaning the safeguarding of the home and said that in the uniting of these two Presbyteries in marriage it meant the safeguarding of the societies She said:

Remember we are banded together to do still larger work and establish homes We are reaching out our hands to the utmost parts of the world, and our combined efforts are needed in this work for the Master. As in married life you must exercise patient forebearance, so you must do in this work. We are banded together to do some of the greatest things ever done by women."

The session closed with a prayer of consecration by Mrs. N. T. Houston, of Urbana. Adjournment was then made for luncheon, which was served in the basement. After the luncheon, the executive committee met.

Tuesday Afternoon Session.

A big audience of interested women of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the now united Marion and Bellefontaine Presbyteries gathered for the Tuesday afternoon session of the conference held for the consummation of the union of the two societies at the First Presbyterian church. A great deal of profit was gained by the ladies, the discussions of the afternoon being close in line with the mission work.

Mrs. J. L. Tait, of Columbus, was in charge and the first number on the program was a violin solo by Miss Clara Leffler. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. W. L. Case, of Mt. Gilead. After prayer by Miss Wilhelm, of Ashville, North Carolina, Miss Sarah Chapin, a mission worker on the Nebraska and Oklahoma Indian reservations, gave a very brief, but excellent talk. She aroused the interest of her hearers early in her talk and was paid very close attention. She spoke of her work in the homes, declared that tuberculosis was making great headway there, and that it was necessary to do diligent work in order to check it The calls to wait on the sick are many.

Interest in Bible.

"The interest in the Bible is greater than is generally supposed," she said "The people are nearly always ready to listen to a Bible reading and to hold prayer. The Indians are in the midst of civilization, but unfortunately in the midst of one that is tending downward. The Christian people must be awake and keep the people in touch with Christianity. The inroads of evil there are startling The conditions are worse than they are in California and Arizona. The Christian people here should pray, not for the Indians who are far away from humanity, but those who are among the people and who are leading them downward."

The presentation of the constitution, which was to have been made during the afternoon was postponed as there was need for more time. This will be presented to the executive committee which will in turn present the new constitution at the next annual meeting to be held at Galion in April A meeting of the executive committee was held immediately following the meeting.

Workers' Conference.

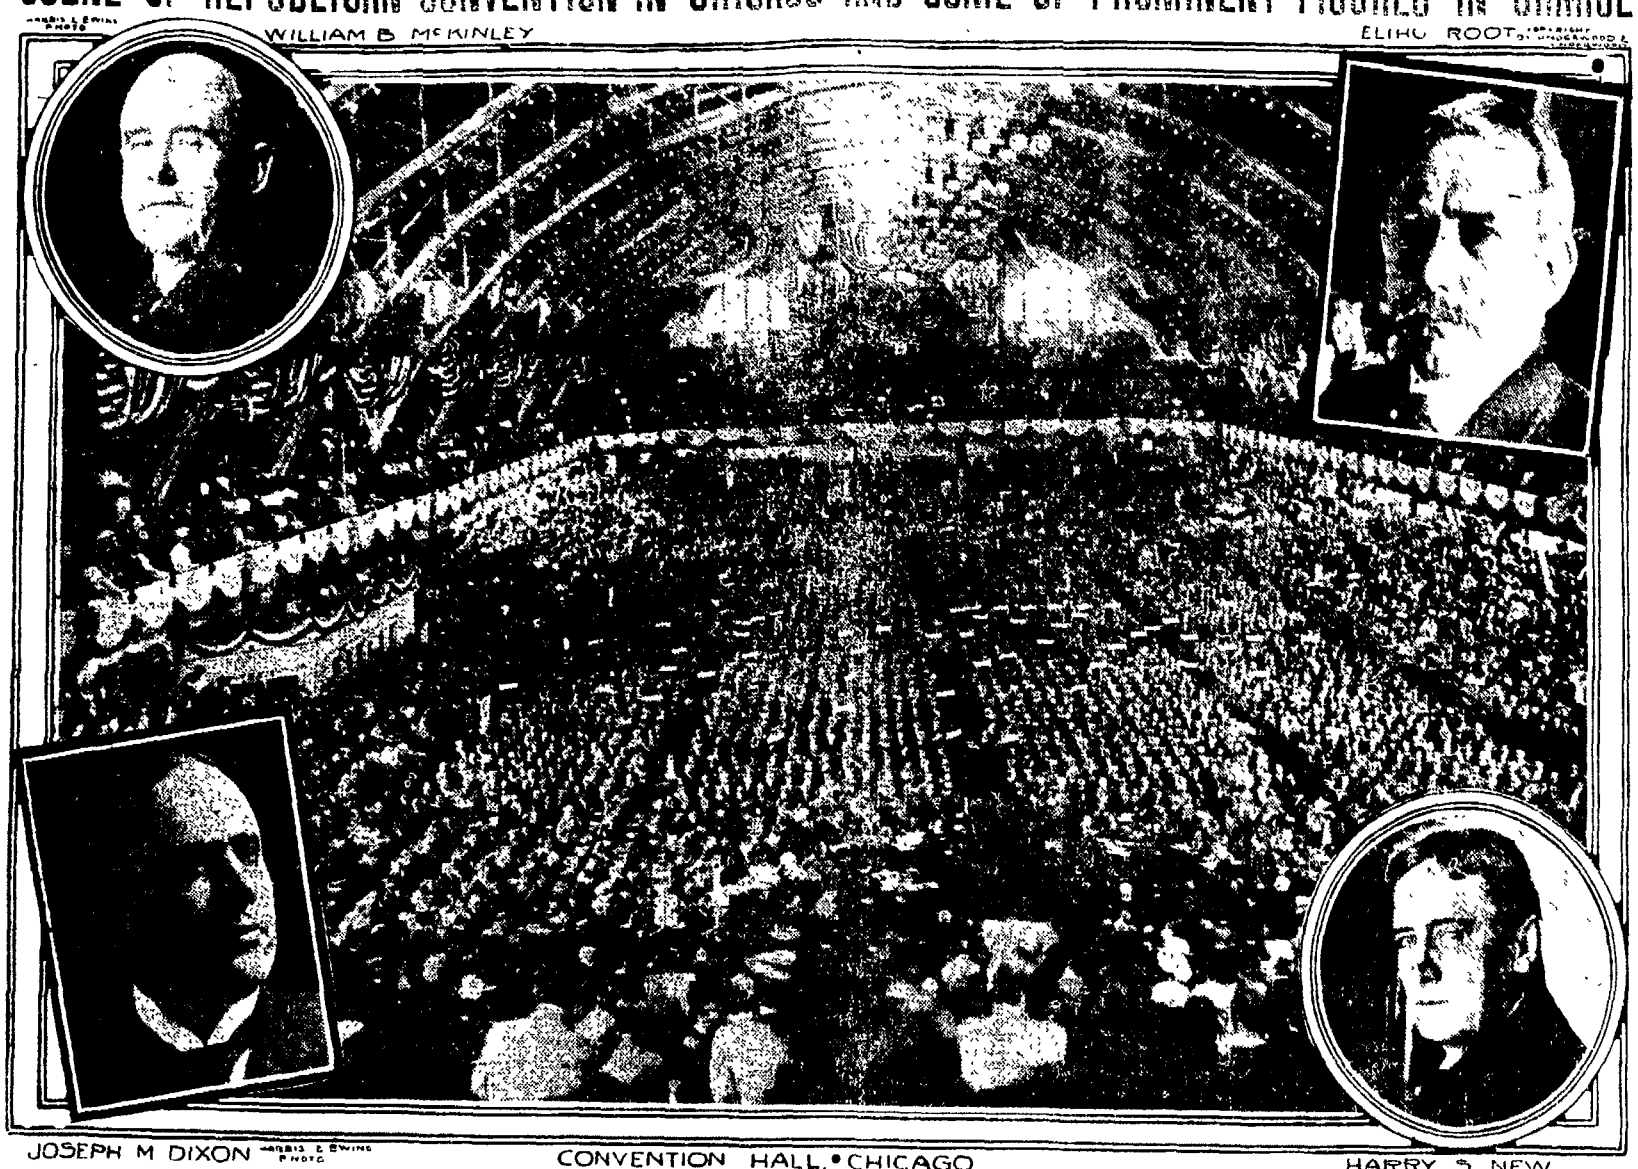
A splendid workers' conference was held during the afternoon, under the leadership of Mrs. W. E. Lewis, of Cincinnati. A great many topics were taken up and discussed thoroughly. The first topic taken up was "Why is the Membership of the Missionary Society Small in Proportion to the Women Church Members." The ladies present engaged in the discussion and as a whole it proved of great value.

Mrs. W. N. Harder contributed a solo being accompanied on the organ by Miss Grace Seifner

The closing hour of prayer was conducted by Mrs. John Ewalt, of Loveland, who spoke interestingly, and then called on Rev. W. A. Ferguson, pastor of the Lee Street Presbyterian church, who offered the closing prayer and benediction

Supper was served at the church at 5 o'clock for a large number of the ladies

SCENE OF REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN CHICAGO AND SOME OF PROMINENT FIGURES IN CHARGE



THE SUPREME COURT GIVES ITS DECISION

Payment of Money Is Declared Against Law.

MONEY IS PAID FOR WORK OF APPRAISERS

The Outcome of a Suit as to Action of Former County Auditor Charles L. Allen Is Watched with Great Interest by the Local Taxing Officials.

By a decision of the supreme court, Tuesday, the payment of money made by former County Auditor Charles L Allen to the Manufacturers' Appraisal company, of Cleveland, in 1910, for work performed under its contract with the quadrennial board of assessors for the appraisement of Marion realty, was illegal.

The decision of the Franklin county circuit court, that actual view and separate appraisement of property for taxation could not be dispensed with and that the quadrennial board could not engage a corporation located elsewhere to assist in its work, was affirmed by the state's highest tribunal.

The Manufacturers' Appraisal company made use of the Somers unit system in appraising Marion business property.

An examination of the county auditor's record, Wednesday disclosed that two payments for work performed for the quadrennial board were made.

The first payment was for $360, May 2, 1910, and the second payment was for $559, June 4, 1910.

In Franklin county, Auditor Sayre refused to pay the Cleveland company's claim for $8,000 on the ground that it was illegal and the matter was carried into the courts.

The outcome of the court's action has been watched by the local taxing officials with great interest.

CURE FOR HICCOUGHS FOUND IN ELECTRICITY

The Experience of a Workman in Shops at Ampere.

An employe of the Crocker-Wheeler company at Ampere, New Jersey, was recently seized with an attack of hiccoughs. Various remedies were suggested, but none were of any avail. The attack had lasted for several hours before it became necessary for him to stop work and go home. At the expiration of that time he was completely exhausted by the continued spasmodic contractions in his throat. Each renewal of the attack seemed to "fairly tear his insides" as he expressed it The works at Ampere cover twenty-five acres, and the employes had to walk through several of the big shops. So exhausted was he that when a fresh attack seized him, he staggered and almost fell. He put out one hand to steady himself, and the next instant he straightened out rigidly His hand had come in contact with a generator carrying a current of 250 volts. After the lightning swift withdrawal of his hand, and a startled gasp the man turned quietly and went back to his work. He was cured of the hiccoughs, but was heard to state later that he thought the disease almost preferable to the drastic cure.

MUST BE ADMITTED TO THE FEDERAL COURT

An Order Received by Referee in Bankruptcy.

Hereafter, according to an order received from the United States court by Referee-in-Bankruptcy Hoke W. Donithen, no person shall be permitted to practice in the federal court or before any referee-in-bankruptcy, as an attorney, or to begin, conduct or defend any action or proceeding in which he is not an actual party concerned, either by using or subscribing his own name or the name of any other person, unless he has been previously admitted to the federal bar.

The ruling will affect several Marion attorneys as it requires all lawyers who desire to conduct a case in bankruptcy to be admitted to the bar of the United States court. An attorney's fee is allowed out of the estate for filing a voluntary or involuntary petition-in-bankruptcy, but in the future this fee can be allowed only to those admitted to practice in the federal courts An attorney not admitted, however, is permitted to file a petition-in-bankruptcy for his client, but he can not represent him in court or before a referee until he is admitted.

TWO MURDERERS GO TO END IN CHAIR

Are Electrocuted in Auburn State Prison Tuesday Morning.

Auburn, N. Y., June 18.—Two "gunmen," Ralph Friedman and Jacob Kuhn, who murdered George A. Schuchart, a grocer, in Rochester, New York, while robbing his store November 10, 1910, were put to death in the electric chair in the Auburn state prison today Friedman was executed first He took his place in the chair at 6:07 and was dead in seven minutes.

Kuhn smiled when he took his seat and interrupted a prayer to call out, "Good-by, fathers." He was strapped in the chair at 6:17 and was dead eight minutes afterward.

FINISHING THE LITTLE SCIOTO RIVER WORK

Timothy Foohey Company Completing Big Task.

TRIMMING UP SPOTS ALONG THE CHANNEL

Farmers Along the Stream Say the Work Saves Many Acres of Corn During the Recent Heavy Rains. The Little Scioto Remains Within Its Banks.

The work of straightening, widening and deepening the Little Scioto river has been almost completed by the Timothy Foohey Dredging company, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and the next step will be the acceptance of the improvement by County Surveyor George E. Dwyer.

The big steam dredging outfit has now finished the work down the channel into the Big Scioto river near Green Camp, and is now working back making the finishing touches of the stupendous job.

Farmers residing along the river's banks are informing the county commissioners that the improved channel saved many acres of corn during the recent heavy rains. Ordinarily, they say, the fields would have been inundated for miles.

The Little Scioto was not even sent out of its banks by the heavy rains, of Saturday night and Sunday, while the Big Scioto river is away out of its banks, flooding many acres.

On the William Guthery place, southwest of the city, twenty-five acres of corn were completely under water and the damage done to other farmers' crops along the stream has been enormous.

Although the Little Scioto has been cut through to the Big Scioto river, it will be some time before all the work is completed, as it will be necessary to back the dredge up the stream for several miles to make additional cuts in the channel

Engineer Dwyer will be in no hurry about accepting the improvement from the hands of the contractors. The work was to have been completed several months ago, but the time was indefinitely extended by the commissioners on acount of the delay occasioned the contractors by the county and the railroads in removing the bridges over the stream.

G. W. Haines Is Hurt.

G. W. Haines, a laborer in the separator department of the Huber shops, suffered a painful injury, Tuesday at 9 o'clock, while at work. Mr. Haines was working in wood, when a piece of it caught in a rip-saw near him. The piece was projected with great force from the saw, and struck Haines on the wrist, cutting and bruising it badly. He was given prompt surgical attention.

Seeking Lost Relatives.

The Cincinnati Enquirer makes reference to a letter being received by the chief of police of that place, asking that James Hancock be located there and informed that his mother is dying Hancock disappeared from Cleveland about four years ago The letter was written by a brother of Hancock, who lives in this city, and to receive better attention was signed by Chief McDonough.

Almost any fool can distinguish between vice and virtue, but it takes a wise man to act according to his understanding.

THE COMMITTEE IS MUCH ENCOURAGED

Believe the "Home Coming" Week Will Be Success.

The emphatic statement of the general arrangements committee, in charge of the plans for the street carnival and "home-coming" week, July 1 to 6, that no immoral amusements will be permitted, has met with public approbation

Members of the committee say they are well pleased with the manner in which the citizens are showing an interest in the affair, and declare that they will not be disappointed. Business and professional men are lending the committee every aid and the promoters feel greatly encouraged.

Surrounding towns are showing considerable interest in the week's festivities and the indications are that the attendance will be unusually large.

Sunday afternoon and evening, June 30, a program of speaking and music will be rendered at Garfield park. A band will be engaged for this occasion.

The carnival will be held on Prospect street between Mill and Church streets.

MUSKRAT DITCH WILL BE IMPROVED

County Commissioners Grant the Petition.

Tuesday afternoon, the county commissioners granted the petition for converting the Muskrat ditch into an open one, and for extending it. The final hearing will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, July 11. The ditch now contains nearly two miles of tile, the size of which runs from fifteen to twenty-two inches. The cost of reopening the ditch and making it open, and further extending it up in Scott township, to get a greater fall, will cost many thousands of dollars.

The ditch, as petitioned for, will begin in Scott township and empty into the Whetstone river, in Claridon township, and will be over two miles long.

CONSENT IS GIVEN BY COMMISSIONERS

Plan To Keep Down the Dust of the Streets.

Wednesday, Receiver George Whysall, of the Columbus, Marion & Bucyrus Railway company, appeared before the county commissioners and gained their consent to tar-sprinkling Main street from the paving on Fairground street to the corporation line, a distance of half a mile The railway company will bear its share of the expense of the tar-sprinkling, two coats of which are expected to allay the dust for this summer and next summer.

"With the street cars and the automobiles the dust on this stretch of road has been almost intolerable," said Receiver Whysall.

The cost of the improvement will be from $200 to $300.

JUDGMENT IS ASKED ON PROMISSORY NOTE

John C. Dalk Sues Charles G. Avers and Others.

AMENDED ANSWER OF JENNIE P. EBERT

Asks That She Be Allowed Money in Lieu of Dower Out of the Proceeds of the Sale of Property. Edward Leach Secures a Temporary Injunction.

A suit to recover judgment on a promissory note for $128, with six per cent. interest from May 12, 1912, was begun in the court of common pleas by John C. Dalk against Charles G. Avers and others, Wednesday. John L. Avers and the First National bank, of Ellmore, are made party defendants because they claim some interest in the chattel property, consisting of oil well drilling tools, given to secure the note. Mouser & Moloney filed the petition.

Waiving assignment of dower by metes and bounds and asking that the real estate be sold free of her dower, Jennie P. Ebert, defendant in a partition suit brought by Bertha Priester, guardian of Florence Priester, against Jane Priester, widow of John C. Priester, and others, Wednesday, through Attorney Charles L. Justice, filed an amendment to her previous answer. She prays that she be allowed, in lieu of dower, such a sum of money out of the proceeds on the property's sale as the court may deem the just value of her dower.

Praying for a temporary injunction against the village of Green Camp to prevent the construction of sidewalks on the east side of High street, between Mill and Water streets, Edward Leach, a taxpayer, through Carhart & Warner, filed a petition in the court of common pleas, Wednesday Leach says the stakes for the improvement were changed contrary to the village council's resolution and contrary to the established grade as fixed by Engineer George E. Dwyer, of Marion.

Judge William E. Scofield allowed a temporary restraining order to lie against the village upon the furnishing of $100 bond.

To Extend the Time.

County Treasurer Robert S. Donbaugh has requested the county commissioners to extend the time of payment of taxes from June 20 to July 20, as has been customary in the past. When asked if the time had been extended, the commissioners said that it had not been, but would be if the treasurer found that he could not collect the taxes by June 20

A Commencement.

The Boxwell commencement of this county will be held at the Brush Ridge Baptist church, Thursday, June 27. The speaker of the evening will be Rev. Walter A. King, of the Trinity Baptist church. Miss Carmen Blow will sing and McNeal's orchestra will play.

Is Much Improved.

Word was received, Wednesday, from Pearl Mears, who was called to Fullerton, California, last week by the serious illness of his father, Robert Mears, stating that his father is much better.
